Softball, baseball teams in playoffs—first game today

Tetstar's softball and baseball teams both made the Western Class C playoffs. It was announced this week. The baseball team, with a 10-4 conference record, finished 3rd among the 25 teams in the division. The softball team, also sporting a 10-4 conference record, finished 8th among the 25 schools in the division. The girls play 9th-ranked Livermore Falls today (Wednesday), beginning at 4 p.m., at the Tetstar field. The boys, on the basis of their 3rd-place finish, have a bye in the preliminary round. They will play Saturday against the winner of the Livermore-Falls game. The game scheduled for today, the Saturday game will be at Tetstar, time to be announced. Athletic Director Carroll Higgins said it would likely be in the afternoon. If the girls win today, they will also play Saturday, against Spranklin Trail Academy, there.

Andover Water District holds annual meeting

The annual meeting of the Andover Water District will be next Tuesday, June 9, at 7 p.m. in the town hall. Town officials urge all area water-users to attend. Town officials report that dump stickers are now available at the town office—25 cents each, one per family. Selectman Laura Hutchins will be attending the annual meeting of welfare directors at Sebasteo Lodge, in Sebasteo Estates, today and tomorrow (Wednesday and Thursday). The conference is sponsored by the Maine Welfare Directors Association.

Sewer tie-in fees bumped to $250

The Bethel Board of Selectmen Monday night hiked the sewer tie-in fee to $250, from the current $5. The increase was made in the wake of pressure from developers to tie in their condominium projects to the municipal sewer, and the realization that the sewer has to be upgraded (at considerable cost) in order to handle the increased sewage. The state Department of Environmental Protection has warned the town that the sewer plant is not doing an adequate job with present waste and cannot handle additional waste. The town has agreed to follow the recommendations of

Police protection likely to be hottest issue at town meeting

The question of which police force will protect Bethel residents is likely to be one of the hottest issues at annual town meeting next Tuesday night, according to town officials. Article 7 of the town meeting warrant asks if voters will authorize the selectmen to contract with the Oxford County Sheriff's Department to provide police protection for the town at an annual cost of $45,000. In addition, the town would supply a cruiser for the deputy assigned here. The selectmen view a contract with the Sheriff's Department as the preferred alternative for providing police protection for the town. The other alternative involves going out and finding a police chief to replace the retiring Bob Starna. According to negotiations conducted between Town Manager Rodney Lynch and Sheriff Alton Howe, the Sheriff's Department would provide a deputy sheriff in town five days a week, for 43 hours. In addition, reserve deputies would be in the town for 16 hours. Thus, the town would receive 59 hours of coverage weekly. Still to be negotiated is whether this coverage could be increased in the summer and decreased in the winter, as has been the case using local police protection. If voters refuse to authorize the selectmen to sign a contract for police protection with the Sheriff's Department, the money raised for police protection—$45,000—is being asked for—will be utilized by the local police force and a new chief will have to be hired, Mr. Lynch explained. Town officials are determined to do something about the lagging property valuations in town, which are said to generally reflect only about 50 percent of true value. If property valuations are not updated soon, the state will force the town to do so, they say. Thus, they are seeking a total of $60,000 for a complete property revaluation. The bulk of this amount—$43,000—would be borrowed, while $17,000 would be raised as a capital improvement project. The firm being considered to handle the revaluation has assured town of-

Bethel voting Monday—business meeting Tuesday evening

The annual Bethel election is scheduled for next Monday, June 8, with the polls being open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. at the Bethel fire station. No contests appear on this year's ballot, with only one candidate being listed for each office to be filled. Incumbents Patricia C. Dopen and Arlan Jodrey are candidates for three more years as selectmen. Mrs. Dopen and Robert Stevens, incumbents, are seeking another three years as assessors. Candidates for the two three-year terms on the S&D #44 board of directors are former board member Stanley R. Howe and incumbent John K. Brown. The business portion of the annual town meeting will be held Tuesday evening at the Tetstar auditorium starting at 7 o'clock. (See separate article.)

Chariots of desire

Congratulations to super-speedsters Scott Haines and Shannan Tyler of the Telstar track team. Scott, the unassuming senior who broke most of the basketball team records last winter, has been breaking the school's track records this spring. And Saturday he won the long jump at the Western Class C regional meet, at Brunswick.

Shannan, who is just a freshman, ran away with the high jump crown at the regional meet. Both youngsters deserve hearty congratulations, as do those, such as Traci Higgins, April Cole and David Kersey, who have been breaking the school's track records this spring.

Not everyone can set records or win meets. But everyone can give 100 percent—on the playing field or on the job or in the classroom. Telstar track coaches Tim and Judy Kersey seem gifted in being able to inspire the young Rebels to do just that. In a few short years they have brought the school's track program to a place of prominence in the Mountain Valley Conference, and—more importantly—in the eyes of the students, who are now eager to put on the thin uniforms and go out running and jumping in the cold and damp spring weather and the hot and humid early summer.

The sign of their success is not the number of star athletes they produce but the number of students who come out to participate in the track program. The number is growing rapidly.

Of course having a winning program helps. And the Telstar track teams have been winning. Thus, four boys and 10 girls will be invited to the state meet this Saturday, at Orono. We know they'll do their school proud. bwf

The road not taken

Next Tuesday night Bethel Town Meeting will decide whether to cease having a municipal police force and contract with the sheriff's office for police protection, or whether to begin reorganizing the police department, starting by searching for a new police chief to replace Chief Bob Stearns, who retires the end of this month.

Whichever path voters decide upon, the road not taken will still have some powerful attractions.

Some of the advantages of continuing with the local police force are:

- the maintenance of local control over the town's police;
- the freedom of changing patrol schedules as town officials see the need to do so;
- the ability to compensate overtime with compensatory time off, instead of having to pay overtime pay for overtime work, as the sheriff's office (and other large police departments) has to.

Some of the disadvantages of continuing with the local police force are:

- the limited manpower pool from which to select reserve officers to assist the chief;
- the limited amount of training that can be given a reserve officer once he or she is hired;
- the inability of the town to hold onto the services of its reserve officers.

Among the advantages of contracting out police protection to the sheriff's office are:

- the sheriff would provide a police academy graduate as the chief public safety officer in town;
- the sheriff would assume the administrative burdens that now fall upon town officials;
- the town would have some say in the appointment of the deputy;
- the sheriff would have to fill any gaps in coverage caused by the resignation of the deputy or by any other causes.

Among the disadvantages of contracting with the sheriff's office for police protection are:

- the loss of local control over police matters, as the deputy would be answerable to the sheriff for direction, discipline, etc.;
- the salaries of the deputies would be set by their union in negotiation with the county commissioners, with the town out of the picture;
- the Supreme Court ruling ordering overtime pay for overtime work would limit flexibility in scheduling.

It seems clear that there is no clear-cut advantage to either option. The selectmen recommend signing a contract with the sheriff's office for a contract deputy. Since the contract is only for one year, it seems a worthwhile experiment—to try out this new system (new for Bethel, at any rate) before going out to hire a new police chief. If the experiment proves unsatisfactory, there will be time enough to try the road not taken. bwf

Not all issues are on warrant

One of the most important issues facing the town—that is, the fact that the landfill is rapidly filling up—is not adequately addressed on the Town Meeting warrant.

There is an article for setting aside some money for closing down the landfill, and there is an article for setting aside some money for researching what alternatives are available for solid waste disposal when the landfill is filled up.

But there is no article on how to get the most life out of the town landfill while it still exists.

Extending the life of a landfill is a relatively easy task: put less solid waste into it. This is the same method used by the towns of Greenwood and Woodstock for limiting their expenses by shipping waste from their transfer station. Less waste means less cost at transfer stations, and longer life for landfills.

Towns control the amount of their solid waste by promoting recycling of waste by the citizenry. Look at the Bethel landfill on any given day and notice how much of the waste is newspapers, magazines, paper bags, bottles of various descriptions, and other matter that can be recycled rather than buried.

All that is required is to set up barrels where people can deposit bottles and a shed where people can deposit papers; then some active promotion of the necessity of recycling, and soon the town will likely have its landfill for six or seven years instead of the estimated five years of life remaining.

While it's wise to set aside money for future alternatives to the present landfill, it's wiser to be thrifty and stretch the life of the present landfill as far as possible. bwf

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

The Bethel Rotary Club held its breakfast meeting on Tuesday, June 2, at Martha's Restaurant.

Visiting Rotarians and guests were Sarance Taylor, Norway, guest of Jeff Parsons, and Bill Lowther, Bounton, N.J.

The raffle winner was Rolfe Glines. We won't tell Phil, Rolfe.

The June 2 meeting was a club assembly. Club business and planning was the order of the day following the June 1 board of directors meeting. Items of business discussed included the Spanish Student Exchange, bike-a-thon, graduation breakfast, Mollycoddle Day, and other business matters. Dave stressed the need to support and develop fund raiser projects. Dave also passed on the good word that his boy has been released from the hospital and is doing just fine.

Next week's program chairman is Bill Conary. Our featured speaker will be Dick Rasor. He will talk about the Bethel Inn's expansion planning.

A note from the publisher

The 1987 New England Newspaper Directory recently arrived in the office, and I quickly went through the section on Maine papers to see how we stacked up against the other weekly papers in the state so far as size and cover price and advertising rates.

Actually, it's difficult to know how we compare with many of the weeklies because many of them do not provide verification of their circulation claims. The New England Press Association, which publishes the annual directory, therefore puts no circulation figure next to the particular paper, simply stating "Circulation Not Verified." Such is the case for the Rumford paper and the Norway paper, but—without a doubt—each is still considerably larger than The Citizen. The Citizen is listed with a paid circulation of 2,592, which was verified by our postal audit in 1986. According to our present figures, our circulation is now over 2,800. But this will have to await confirmation by the postal inspectors.

The Citizen's ad rates remain the lowest in the state, as they have been for a number of years. In fact, The Citizen's ad rates have not increased in three years. The rates now are the same as they were when we were selling just 2,100 papers a week.

Because we are providing our advertisers with a broader advertising market, we feel it only justified to charge a higher advertising rate. And this we will do, beginning next month.

Our basic ad rate will go up 10 percent, from $2.50 per SAU (that is, Standard Advertising Unit) inch, to $2.75 per SAU inch. The cost of front page ads will increase to $6 per inch, and the cost of back page ads will increase to $4 per inch. The classified rate will stay the same.

All regular advertisers will receive new rate cards with their bills at the beginning of next month. If you want a rate card and don't receive one in the mail, please drop into the office and pick one up.

PS: The new ad rates will still leave The Citizen with the lowest ad rates in the State of Maine, even though there are a half-dozen papers I know of with less circulation than we have.

How do our rates stack up with our bigger brothers and sisters in neighboring towns? Using the Standard Advertising Unit, which is a standard column width for most papers in the U.S., The Citizen—as noted above—has the lowest rate locally, not to mention statewide. Our present rate is $2.50 per SAU inch. The same width in the Norway paper or the Rumford paper would cost $5.33 per inch, while the same width in the Lewiston paper would cost $7.00 per inch.

What will we do with the extra money we'll earn from the advertising rate increase? For starters, we'll pay the town office, which increased our rent $70 this year, on top of increases last year and the year before that. Then we'll give raises to our hard-working staff. And, finally, we'll continue to upgrade our equipment. More on that in a few weeks, when I should be able to report to you

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

In late summer 1986, interested citizens of Woodstock and Greenwood met twice to discuss the possibility—and advisability—of forming a lakes association, with membership open to all residents of our combined communities.

Sufficient interest was expressed at these meetings to justify sending this letter well in advance of the 1987 summer season in the hope [summer residents] will join us in support of this endeavor.

The rapidly growing use of our ponds (there are nine within our boundaries) for recreation both summer and winter greatly increases the likelihood of serious water pollution and shoreline erosion. Each additional building on lake shore property, often by people not familiar with Maine's shorelands building laws, contributes to the pollution and erosion problems already in existence. Everyone in our communities will benefit from careful planning of land use and pollution control. Not the least of these benefits will be an increase in our wildlife population—birds, small animals, and fish in our ponds—as well as the preservation of the natural beauty of our surroundings.

The education of all land users, by knowing what needs to be done and how to go about doing it, can best be done through information letters—perhaps two per year—to members of an organized group. Some control of the pollution in our ponds can be done effectively by scheduled monitoring to be followed up by specific recommendations. Active participation in the form of an exchange of ideas, the sharing of concerns, encouraging new people to join us, and a general community awareness of changes made in our state's laws, will help achieve good shoreline use (better fishing for all). All these efforts will help to increase long-range property values, thereby bringing increased revenue to our towns.

The consensus at the 1986 gatherings was for an organizational meeting to be held in the summer season of 1987. The choice of date was for Saturday, July 11, at 10 a.m., at the Woodstock town hall. Nominations for a slate of officers—followed by election—will take place at this meeting. In addition, an official name for the new organization will be chosen. All residents of Woodstock and Greenwood are welcome to attend. Contributions to help defray the cost of this mailing—as well as an indication of your willingness to take an active part in this community project—are appreciated. Kindly send contributions to: Community Lakes Association of Woodstock and Greenwood (temporary name), c/o Merle Ring, Bryant Pond 04219.

Four Telstar boys to be in action at Orono

Scott Haines, David Kersey, Andy Porter, and Jamie Blake will be representing Telstar at the state meet in Orono this coming Saturday.

Scott will be competing in the long jump (this leap of 19'5" was the longest of the day at the Regionals last Saturday), high jump (5'7"), 100 meter (11.7 seconds), and 200 meter (23.8 seconds).

David qualified in four events also: high jump (5'10"), pole vault (10'0"), 300 meter intermediate hurdles (44.5 seconds), and the 110 meter high hurdles in the school record time of 16.8 seconds.

Andy Porter let go with a tremendous heave in the javelin and placed second with a toss of 148'5".

Jamie Blake qualified in the long jump with a good jump of 18'1".

To the Editor:

In reference to last week's article on "Newry officials discuss possible violations," I was embarrassed to read about the comments made.

Living in Newry for the past eight years I have seen a lot of land cut, destroyed and left in a mess and never once has anyone said a word.

The logging operation known as MCW (Myers, Chapman and Wheeler), in my opinion, has done nothing but a clean and wonderful job of enhancing the beauty of this parcel of land by doing only selective cutting, leaving the existing apple and pine trees for the possibilities of creative landscaping. Not only has the old stone wall been left, which gives so much character to this area, but I was informed that MCW would add more of it to fill in the gaps.

It is a pleasure to drive up Rte. 26, which I do daily, and actually enjoy seeing a logging operation adding to the beauty of a piece of land instead of stripping it. I was also pleased to hear the thought of developing this into five-acre lots for homes instead of townhouses (as originally planned), which would detract from the country atmosphere we all enjoy.

If we could all stop looking for the bad in something and start looking for the good, then we should be praising MCW for restoring our land to its original beauty.

Ten Telstar girls to compete at state meet

The Telstar Regional High School girls' track team performed extremely well at the regional meet in Brunswick on Saturday. Ten girls qualified for the state meet and will be representing Telstar at Orono this coming Saturday.

Traci Higgins will be competing in three events, the long jump, the triple jump, and as a member of the 1600 meter relay team.

Sarah Chapman qualified in the 100 meter hurdles and as part of the 400 meter relay team.

April Cole qualified in the 2 mile and set a new school record for this event.

Christine Hunt will be running as a member of the 1600 meter relay team.

Ellen Hastings looked good and will be running on both the 400 meter relay team and on the 1600 meter relay team.

Paula Michaud will be participating as a runner on the 400 meter relay.

Shannan Tyler jumped 4'8" in the high jump and qualified for the state meet.

Sherry Nichols also qualified in the high jump and as a member of the 1600 meter relay team.

Amy Blake will be competing in the 300 meter hurdles. She ran her best time of the season with a 52.6.

To the Editor:

It is time for a change in the way West Paris voters elect local officials. The Australian Ballot method of election would give everyone a chance to vote for the candidate of their choice. Those who are unable to vote at Town Meeting, for whatever reason, would have a chance to vote for candidates ahead of time.

In a democracy, people have just as much right to choose not to vote as they do to vote. The voters deserve to know ahead of time who is running for office, and find out how the candidates stand on the issues.

Just because something has been done in a certain way for many years does not necessarily make it right or fair. I say it is time for a change to a fairer voting method, and I hope other voters feel the same way and will come to the special town meeting on June 9.

Sewer tie-in fees bumped to $250

a study to be done by a consulting firm in order to improve the operation of the plant.)

The $250 connection fee would cover all connections into the public sewer—residential, industrial or commercial—and also connections into private sewers that ultimately connect into the public sewer (similar to the Eden Ridge subdivision sewer).

Town Manager Rodney Lynch told the selectmen that many other towns charge fees as high, or higher, than the $250 fee he recommended. The town of Waldoboro, for example, charges a permit application fee of $100 plus a tie-in fee of $1,000. The town of Ogunquit charges a fee of $2,500, while Wells charges $500 to tie in, plus a sewer impact fee of $1,000 for a three-bedroom house.

In other sewer business, the selectmen denied a request for a sewer connection permit for the Four Seasons Inn. John and Sandy Mahon, owners of the inn, informed the selectmen that they intend to add some rooms to their barn and wanted to tie the plumbing system of the refurbished barn into the Elm Street sewer line.

The selectmen, fearing a large number of bathrooms might be built in the barn, said the Elm Street line couldn't handle a large increase in sewage. They suggested the Mahons consider tying into the Main Street sewer line.

The Sudbury Inn also requested a sewer connection permit. Owners David and Cheri Thurston are putting in a new bar in the basement of their inn and expanding their dining facilities. Presently the inn is tied into the Main Street sewer line. The sewage from downstairs could be pumped uphill to the Main Street line, but if the pump failed or the line clogged problems would develop. The Thurstons therefore sought permission to tie into the Clark Street line, which runs through the field behind the inn, which the Thurstons own.

The selectmen granted the permit to tie into the Clark Street line, with the provision that the six-inch line on Clark Street (up to Main Street) be replaced by the applicant. This is in keeping with the town's policy to reduce infiltration of water into the sewer mains by having new projects replace old, leaking pipes, with new pipes.

In other matters, the selectmen signed an agreement with the developers of Eden Ridge whereby the town and the developers would jointly control a passbook account at the Maine Savings Bank to cover any deficiency in the water improvements within the subdivision and the sewer extension to be completed on Vernon Street. The $1,000 in the account (funded by the developers) can be used by the town to correct deficiencies up to two years after the project is completed.

The selectmen reviewed the latest revision of a proposed contract between the town and the sheriff's office for hiring the latter to provide police protection for the town. It was revealed that the full-time deputy sheriff would receive a salary of $34,250 a week (43 hours spread over five days), to be paid by the county. The part-time deputies would be paid at the rate of $3 per hour, also to be paid by the county. If authorized by Town Meeting, the selectmen will sign the contract. (See separate story, page 1.)

The selectmen also reviewed a proposed contract with Parker Appraisal Co.,

of North Windham, for revaluing the property in town, at a cost of $68,000. The selectmen will sign the contract if Town Meeting authorizes the expenditure. (See separate story.)

In a related development, the state Bureau of Taxation notified the town last week that the valuation of real estate in the town is quite out of date. State law requires that a municipality maintain a minimum assessment ratio of 70 percent (the ratio between town valuation and sales price). The bureau noted that Bethel's ratio last year had slipped to 59 percent, compared to 66 percent the previous year. "It is readily apparent that Bethel has an assessment problem which must be addressed," the letter from the director of the property tax division of the bureau stated.

In other matters, the town manager notified the selectmen that the Maine Army National Guard is expected to be in town for 17 days, beginning June 10, to do the basic work on laying out a new runway at Col. Dyke Field.

The selectmen accepted the resignation of Cathy Newell from the Planning Board. Mrs. Newell said the recent increased activity of the board has created conflicts with her job and family. "I have found my years on the board to be very rewarding, and am grateful for the chance it has given me to learn," she said in her letter of resignation. Mrs. Newell was one of the principal architects of the revised Comprehensive Plan.

The selectmen received a certificate of appreciation from the county commissioners thanking the officials, employees and volunteers in the town for assisting town residents during and after the April 1 flood.

The selectmen granted permission to Continental Telephone Co. to open 2,340 feet of the Smith Road, from the Flat Road to the Mason town line, in order to bury a cable.

Following an executive session, the selectmen voted to grant Planning Board part-time secretary Mary Morgan a wage increase, from $4.78 to $6 an hour.

Anti-dumpers receive Maine Audubon award

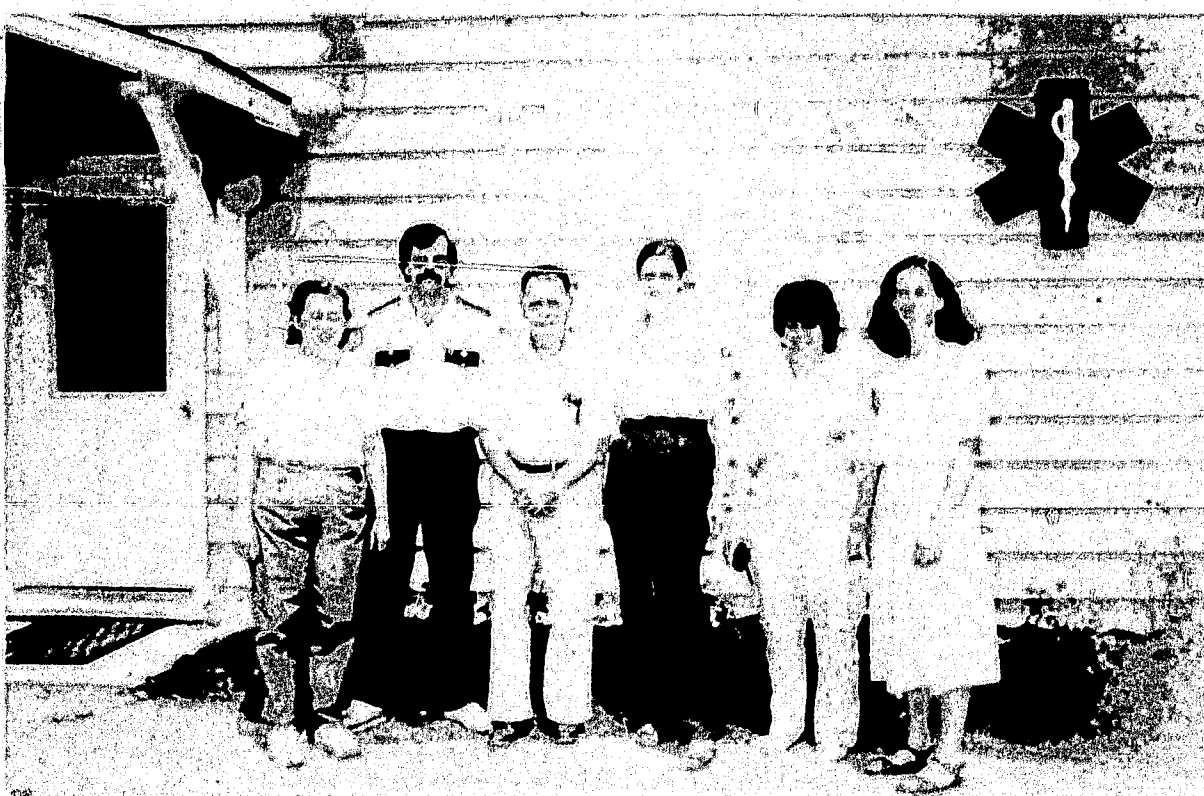

Maine Audubon Society, at its annual meeting last Saturday, at The Bethel Inn, presented its Environmental Award to the Lake Region Anti-Nuclear Waste Fund.

The recipient group was active last year in fund-raising and lobbying against the proposed high-level nuclear waste site proposed for Maine. The group's efforts raised $300,000 in contributions.

Accepting the award for the group was Richard Mark, of Orlisfield. In accepting the award, Mr. Mark said, "The thing the award brings to light is the fact that everyone in the area worked so hard together on a common goal."

A Maine Audubon staffer, Charles Hewett, said, "I don't think there's ever been a citizens' effort in Maine, for any cause, to parallel the effort that was put in this region to defeat the (high-level nuclear waste) repository."

It is only the second time it its 143-year history that Maine Audubon has presented an Environmental Award. The first recipient was Sen. Edmund Muskie.

TRI-TOWN RESCUE OFFICERS stand proudly in front of their just-opened ambulance garage Sunday. Built at a cost of $55,000—all from donations and savings—the garage is located at Trap Corner. It was built by Region 11 vocational students and finished by Emery's and Tri-Town volunteers. There are 20 active attendants in Tri-Town, plus 10 search and rescue volunteers, 10 dispatchers and 20 auxiliary members. The officers are, left to right, Mary Emery (secretary), Ken Bacon (search and rescue team leader), Richard Walker (treasurer), Jane Chandler (chief), Dorene Benson (auxiliary president) and Zeba Weidner (coordinator).

Police protection likely to be hot issue

The ambulance replacement fund already has $21,000, and the Board of Selectmen recommends adding another $8,639 this year. The Budget Committee suggests adding only $3,639. At issue is how soon the town will purchase a new ambulance to replace #99, which is 12 years old and has 69,000 miles. A new ambulance costs about $50,000, officials say.

Another vehicle that has already caused differences of opinion is the police cruiser. The selectmen want to fund a new one this fiscal year; the Budget

Both the Board of Selectmen and the Budget Committee agree that a new public works pickup truck is needed in the near future. But they disagree on how many more years the present pickup can keep going. The selectmen want to put $10,000 into a replacement account; the Budget Committee recommends raising only $5,000.

The standard health and human services appropriations and not expected to generate any controversy, except for the article asking whether the Town will vote to raise and appropriate $750 for the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce to help with that organization's public relations on behalf of the town. Both the selectmen and the Budget Committee recommend no appropriation.

Aside from money articles, there are a number of other articles that should stir quite a bit of interest. Chief among these is the article on the draft site plan review ordinance. As reported earlier, this ordinance has not been thoroughly reviewed by the Planning Board or the Board of Selectmen, and therefore of-

Town Meeting Tuesday at Telstar

Officials will suggest that discussion and vote be postponed to a later town meeting.

Voters will be given a revised floodplain management ordinance at the town meeting and a vote will be solicited on this ordinance. If the town's floodplain ordinance is not updated this year, residents of the town will no longer be eligible for flood insurance, officials explained.

rid of that. I'm certainly glad to see it go."

In other matters, Mr. Hooper indicated he felt the new Planning Board was a promising development. He noted, "We're optimistic about the Planning Board. We have a good cross-section on the board. We would like some old-timers on the board though, or coming to meetings. They are public meetings—anyone can attend."

Concerning another board—the committee for expansion of the cemetery—Mrs. Mersereau said no one has stepped forward to be on the board. Therefore she and the selectmen will themselves look at the Lakeside Cemetery to see about the possibilities for expansion.

As to what to do with the land the town purchased as a stump dump, Mrs. Mersereau said that would have to be put before a town meeting. It has now been determined that the land is unsuitable for either a stump dump or for septage disposal; and, in fact, the problem of septage disposal continues to dog the community. Observed Mr. Hooper, "Obviously we have to do something eventually. All the towns—Greenwood, West Paris, Woodstock—have to do something."

The town office is still awaiting word on the state's revaluation of town property.

On a personal note, Selectman Gary Wing pointed out that his wife had been out all afternoon mowing the ballfield for a game that night. The selectmen said there was a nearly new recreation committee in place and they were expecting developments from them.

The town meeting will take place Tuesday night, in the Telstar auditorium. Town elections are Monday, with polling at the fire station.

Oxford Bank donates to Tri-Town Rescue

At Sunday's open house at the new Tri-Town ambulance garage, H. Sayward Lamb, who was instrumental on a committee to keep a bank in West Paris, and Ginger Dunham, the manager of the West Paris branch of the Oxford Bank and Trust, presented to Tri-Town Rescue a check for $362, representing a dollar for each account that was opened at the new branch in its first 30 days of operation.

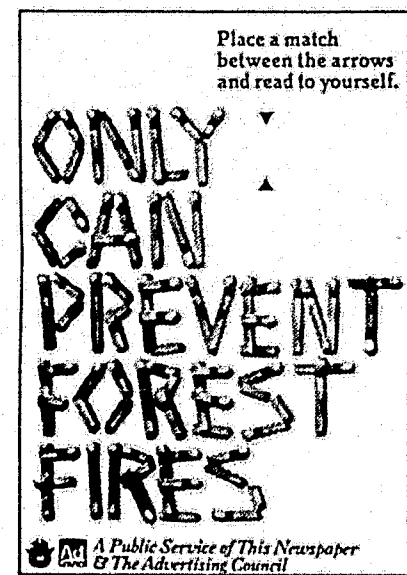

Oxford Bank officials said they are "extremely pleased" with the support the people of West Paris and the surrounding communities have given to the bank since its opening on April 6.

Some Newry residents still upset by logging on Bear River parcel

Newry Planning Board members Mike Lynch and Veronica Smith met Tuesday morning with Selectmen Lee Swan and Roger Hanscom at their regularly scheduled weekly session. There was further discussion on possible environmental violations of the Chapman and Wheeler logging operations on their newly acquired land along the Bear River. The selectmen said they would try to set a meeting with all parties concerned in order to settle the dispute. The selectmen are confident the matter can be resolved with little difficulty.

Les Otten, president of Sunday River Skiway Corp., attended the meeting to express concern about the wording of a portion of the proposed changes in the building ordinance. Presently the ordinance calls for a minimum lot size of one acre for a single-family unit. The proposed ordinance calls for the same size for each unit of multi-unit housing. As the wording does not present a clear idea of the meaning, it will be necessary for the Planning Board to change the wording to make the ordinance clearer prior to the public hearing and meeting on June 15, the selectmen said.

Road Commissioner Marshall Fleet brought in the final payroll for flood damage repair, all of which has been completed except for the paving, which will be done by contract. The final payroll was nearly $13,000. That brought the total flood damage repair to $34,008. The federal and state disaster relief officials have agreed to fund $32,767 of this amount.

Summer hours make it easier to visit us at Maine Yankee...

Beginning June 1, our Energy Information Center will be open 7 days a week — Monday through Saturday, 10 AM to 5 PM — and Sunday, Noon to 5:00 PM.

At the Center, you'll learn about the Maine Yankee nuclear energy plant — and how it generates much of our state's electricity.

If you come to visit us at Maine Yankee, you'll —

- Learn more about nuclear energy and about Maine Yankee — which has been operating for 14 years.

- Discover interesting and educational exhibits — a film, computerized video quizzes and equipment showing how Maine Yankee produces electricity.
- View a full-scale control room simulator — used to train and regularly test Maine Yankee's operators.

The Center is designed so that people of all ages will enjoy learning about modern science and about one of our state's important resources, Maine Yankee.

This has been a busy week around here when the weather permitted. Lots of fill being hauled in at Lawrence's to build up across the road. There have been many loads of gravel, or whatever, hauled in and worked over. Russell has been busy planting gardens of flowers and after we got the big garden rototilled, Russell, Peggy and I all worked together to get it planted. Left room to transplant some things that weren't ready as yet, but otherwise hope the garden is planted. Russell finished it yesterday when he planted the squashes.

Last Thursday, I had typed up the writing for the paper and started cleaning cupboards in the kitchen. Peggy came down and gave me a hand so we did the kitchen and livingroom. Still have other rooms to get at, and dread it, but can only do so much at a time. We got the windows cleaned and curtains washed and put back up, and that is quite a job. Didn't used to be such a job, but age seems to make it harder each year. It seems good to know that much is done, anyway.

Had my weekly trip to North Bridge on Friday to get ribs put back in place and have allergy shots and whatever else needed doing. Peggy and I had fixed the flower arrangements for the cemeteries, and she and Russell took them to the cemeteries in the afternoon. They went with the truck so I stayed home and did other things. Darryl Starbird came that evening to rototill the garden for us so we could get to planting. It seemed good to get it done, as Russell just hasn't been up to it after his stay in the hospital for a few days. He is gaining all the time and does plenty, but it takes time to build blood back up.

Wynona had called to see if I could go to the cemeteries with her on Saturday so got things together on Saturday morning so I would be ready when she came. She came right after Courtney's dance lesson, so got here at lunch time. We left shortly after lunch to go cemeteries at Middle Intervale, Locke Mills, West Paris, Norway and the one on Pike's Hill, in Norway, where Wynona's father is buried. She wanted to get back home as Kariann had a bad-looking hand. She had done something to it the day before and had complained of her fingers hurting.

Saturday afternoon, the hand was swollen and a purple streak running through it. Kariann didn't want to use it, so we knew something was wrong. However, when she got home and took her to the hospital for x-rays, as long as nothing showed up, they did nothing to relieve the child. I think that is what I would call abusing a child by letting them go without any help for a bone out of joint, or whatever the trouble was. It hurt her to move her fingers so there had to be something wrong, but couldn't find out what. Very disgusting and disturbing.

Had a thundershower around 9:30 on Saturday night, but it didn't last long. I had just gone to bed when it started. I was glad it didn't last long, as I was so tired.

Sunday was another day. Worked around the house in the forenoon, and in the afternoon Peggy took Russell and I with her to visit our brother Bryce and wife Barbara Yates in Bethel. We had a lovely visit. Their visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Waterhouse. I hadn't seen Howard since he used to visit Bryce with his motorcycle years ago on Sunday River. It was nice to see him and meet his wife. Bryce and Barb showed us a video of some of their trip in some of the southern states that they took this spring. It was very interesting.

The Woodstock Senior Citizens will meet on Thursday, June 4, for a business meeting at 11 a.m. A potluck dinner, in charge of Annie Crockett, Bertha Flanders and Charlotte Cole, will be served at noon. Members are to bring a hot dish, salad or dessert and also their own place setting.

The program will be a musical entertainment, with Charles Aray and Don Nichols, from South Portland. This is a performance, which is done by the Commercial Paving Co., and all citizens of the town are invited to attend the program. Beth Hoyt returned to Pittsfield, Mass., after spending the Memorial weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoyt.

The Daughters of Union Veterans will meet on Monday, June 8. Final plans will be made for convention. A thank-you to all who took part in the Memorial Day program and parade. Winners of the essay contest were Nathan Clukey, Kelsey Cross and Billy Chase.

Monday—Memorial Day here in Maine. It doesn't seem right to me for them to change the holidays the way they do, but it sure happens. Do we want our birthdays changed? I wonder how the presidents that are honored would feel about it and the soldiers and others about Memorial Day. Many other holidays are changed so folks can have a long weekend, but it just does not seem right to celebrate on the wrong day after celebrating the right day when growing up.

We didn't go to any of the parades; that was the day Peggy helped me do some more cleaning. Did that in the forenoon, and in the afternoon did some more sewing and made myself a new pair of slacks. It is a job to take in old slacks so decided to make a new pair that would fit. Have so many clothes to alter where I have lost weight, so a new pair of slacks sounded like a good idea.

Russell worked to make a high bed for the carrots and got them planted Monday. It seems that the carrots do much better that way and grow longer and straighter so we like them better that way.

A real good day greeted us on Tuesday, so did a couple loads of wash, wrote a letter or two, went to town for a few needed items and Russell got some flowers planted in the forenoon. After lunch we all got together—Russell, Peggy and I—and started planting the big garden: Russell making the rows and Peggy sowing the seeds and I covered as long as I could. Russell covered the last two rows we got planted. Decided we had done enough about 3:30 and quit for the day. It was hot out in the sun and took the energy from one. Decided we would try to finish the planting the next day.

It was cloudy yesterday, but as long as it didn't rain, we got ready and planted the rest of the garden. Now we wish it would rain to help the seeds start. Thought it was going to last night, as it rained for a bit, but not enough. We could use a little rain to moisten the earth now.

Notes from the Woodstock Historical Society

The next society meeting will feature a video on the recent flood in Rumford, provided by Paul Billings.

Eva Billings Twitchell has given the society some valuable old pictures. She is related to the Bryant, Dunham, and Billings families, so many of them are important to the society. She and Annella Burnham and Ruby Emery have also done work on the society calendar.

It is getting dryer than one would think.

Don't forget the dance at West Paris Grange Hall the first Saturday in June. That will be the 6th. I know there is a lot going on at Bryant Pond that day; also, June 4th will be three-point meeting at West Paris. The Granges meeting there will be West Paris, Franklin Grange, of Bryant Pond, and Paris Grange, of South Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Lovejoy had lots of callers over the weekend. Among them were Mrs. Tammy Farnum and daughter Angela, from Bryant Pond; Mr. and Mrs. Hank Hanson and daughter, Amy, of Augusta. Others were local.

Mrs. Lovejoy joined the fourth grade on a trip to Augusta last Thursday, to help keep track of them. They expected to visit the Museum and the State House and whatever else there was time for. I think it is great that they get a chance to go see the state capitol and surroundings. It can be rather impressive for young folks, as well as older ones.

The sun is trying to shine this morning, so guess I better see what I can do that is worthwhile. Don't know Russell's plans for the day but know there is plenty to be done, as usual. Take care one and all and enjoy the beauty around you. Stop and smell the flowers, if you are not allergic to them, and enjoy the day.

By COLISTA MORGAN

This was a perfect morning. Soft white clouds romped across a sky of brilliant blue. The air was filled with essences of flowers, new cut grass and moist things from the woods. On the far end of my lawn the lacy blossoms of the apple tree were combined with old-fashioned beauty of a dooryard garden. The apple tree must have known how beautiful it was, bent with blossoms. There were so many it surely didn't mind parting with a few. At least it didn't seem at all surprised when I picked a few as I mowed the lawn.

With this setting, I started my day. After mowing for a time I hoed a little in my flowers, then took a short walk up the Spring Road.

Shadows ran across the valley, climbed trees, and vanished again in a wink. In the still warm air small black flies hung like helicopters in the sun-bathed green lead edges of new crinkled plants. Near the end of the road the path was steep, and knotted across it lay roots like varicose veins.

The sky from here turned from metallic, kingfisher blue to a paler, more powdery color. The valley was washed with brilliance and the whole scene was calm and peaceful, surrounded by trees and shrubs vividly green.

I stopped to smell a clump of flowers and was surprised to see how many bees and ants there were already busy there.

Higher up I chose a place to sit and saw the whole rolling panorama of the valley: high, rounded hills, ledges, and shadowed lines of still-higher hills beyond the ponds. I sat there for some time watching, feeling the warmth of the sun, smelling the freshness. The only sound was the soft sh-h-h-h of the breeze in the grass and the leaves.

I returned to find the swallows dipping, kissing dimples in the waters, and blackbirds zooming, with scarlet shoulders ablaze.

On the pond's shore I noted the tree reflections standing in reverse. Then, as I opened the door to enter the porch, there came from the woods the peal of a deep liquid flute-like note of the wood thrush: coo-lay. My welcome home to "A Cabin of Dreams," as written by Stanley Foss Bartlett. "And if folks ever want to know what twas we loved and dreamed about, just tell that 'twas a cabin small, aglow within, riot without. And tell them that the fowls bent into the trail that turned for rocks; skies were mighty canvases, e'er changing, specked with homing flocks; that trees leaned east and trees leaned west and some grew straight to God; that grey stones rested in the jade and rich brown was the sod; that vines climbed here and bush sprang there and color did as would; the forest grew up to the door—we lived inside and called it home."

My visitors this week were: Fred and Rena Curtis, Evelyn Heikkinen, Ernest Mundt, Wilfred Coolidge, Bethel; Gladys Millett, Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Avery, Pittsfield, N.H.

Work continues at the Fred Curtis place as they try to clear away the fire debris and get a place to live. At present they are with their son, Albert.

Mr. and Mrs. John Betts were recently in Portsmouth, N.H. Bob and Jordan Leeper, Syracuse, N.Y., and Regina Leeper, were at their cottage here on Friday. They called on

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Swan visited his aunt, Doris Field, in Ogunquit, last weekend.

Cheryl and Michael Drinkwine, Hollis, and Brad Parslow, Dayton, and Todd Glover, Rumford, spent Memorial weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Verne Glover. Joining them for a cookout Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. David Glover, Davey and Tracy, Rumford, and Cheryl Glover, Benjamin and Erica, Hollis. They all called on Amy and Roger Hanscom.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cummings, Bethel, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Hanscom, Jay, Eric and Adam, in a cookout at Spruce Meadows Thursday p.m.

Louise Tetley, Gilberte Seeley, June Swan, Olive Anderson, Karlene Bachelard, Thelma Lowery, Betsy Clark were at Oxford Lane bowling May 27. Rena Powers was a guest. Louise Tetley was high-scorer.

Theresa Toti and Jackie Kraunelie, Harrisville, R.I., were guests of Gilberte Seeley Memorial weekend. Boyd Lane, who is serving with the U.S.A.F. in Germany, recently spent 10 days visiting his mother, Mrs. Grace Lane, and other relatives in the area. This is Lane's first visit to the U.S. in about six years.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Tetley spent Memorial weekend in Massachusetts and Rhode Island visiting relatives and attended the first birthday party of their great-grandson, Paul Viola, in Fitchburg, Mass.

Norman Tetley spent last week in the Allagash, on a fishing trip with friends. Gilberte Seeley used pasta in her drawing of the Glover trailer and Hanscom barn during Sue Wight's art class. This was the last regular art class, but Sue will be glad to hold classes at her home Tuesday morning if anyone is interested.

WCBB campaign ends

The WCBB Member-Get-A-Member campaign has provided Channel 10 with the following new members, according to co-chairmen Cathy Newell and Stan Howe.

The new members of the WCBB family are: Earlon and Mary Keniston, Christopher Brooks, Sally Rollinson, Arlan and Eleanor Jodrey, Tom and Melinda Remington, John Brown, Terry Wilson and family, L.E. Davis Lumber, Tracy and John Mason, Bob and Ginny Keniston, Ruth Grover, Victor and Judy Coolidge, Rob and Robin Gundersen.

Also, Musa and Edwin Brown, Vanessa and Larry Aresenault, Mary and Ray Morgan, Irene Mills, Bruce and Shirley Powell, Phyllis and Norm Dock, George Noll, David and Christine Hanscom, Frances and Dick Harding, Helen Remsen, James and Mary Lou Fliske, Marvin and Tienke Ouwinga, Margaret Hand, Arlene Lowell, Grace and Dick Douglass, Merton and Martha Brown, Louise Lincoln, Bill and Jackie Cramton, Dennis and Betsy Doyon.

Also, Barbara and Mike Brown, Mary and Gordon Gilles, Frances Gunther, Sue and Keith Bartlett, Eva Mills, George and Harriet Stowell, Arthur and Ruth Gilbert, Gustav Mahler, Four Season Inn, Roger and Lillian Conant, Mike Wheeler, Judy and Colwyn Haskell, Nancy and Carl Hansen, Lyndell and Dick Carter, Bethel Auto Sales, and Dennis and Linda Wheeler.

The total raised to date is $1,335, which includes 38 individual memberships, five family memberships, two patron memberships, and two gifts below membership level.

The following Channel 10 members were successful in recruiting at least one new member: Helen Morton, Frank Vogt, Tony Pugliese, Don Brown, Rita Wilson, Becky Shaw, Nancy Young, Madeleine Gibbs, Arla Patch, Jeff Mills, Bernie Wideman, Edith Eddy, Dick Haslerman, Eva Twitchell, K.I. Clough, Robin Lee, Doreen Johnson, Cathy Newell, Jane Young, John Head, Florice Paul, Barbara Douglas, Amy Davis, Jean Bass, Norris Brown, Vicky Rackliff, Betsy Raymond, Steve Wight, Sumner Burgess and Stan Howe.

To date, Nancy Young is the member who has recruited the most new members, with four to her credit.

Co-chairmen Newell and Howe request all volunteers to turn in member cards and payment as soon as possible so that the drive may be completed. Anyone who would like to join WCBB in time to add another new member to the local drive should contact Mrs. Newell, at 824-2089, or Dr. Howe, at 824-2908.

The management at WCBB was so impressed with the success of the fundraising drive in Bethel, they wrote about the Bethel experience as the cover story in this month's "Pulse" magazine, which is the station's monthly program guide.

The management praised the efforts of the volunteers: "Cathy and Stanley and their committee approached this whole project with a real sense of team effort and community spirit."

Leah Deegan has been on a fun and interesting trip to Halifax, Nova Scotia, with her sister, Marion Soule, Marion's sister-in-law, Katherine Soule, and a couple of their friends. At midnight they boarded a train in Jackman and traveled through New Brunswick to Halifax where they stayed a couple of days and nights. The train trip back was slow. An accident along the line had knocked out the signal system so the men had to get off the train to change signals themselves and they were met at the crossings by cars with flashing lights. They landed back in Jackman at 3 a.m.

Edith Deegan, South Woodstock, visited Irene Wilson, Monday.

I was pleased to visit with my niece, Marcia Smith, of Dryden, recently. She hasn't been over for several years. Also we were surprised at the store with visits from Charlotte Kendall Johnston and Charlie, Westford, Mass.; Barbara Mundt Walsh, Portland (hadn't seen her for more than 25 years), and Paula Wight, Windham. This weekend I expect a visit from my nephew, Ralph Mills, of Colchester, Vt.

It has been a busy week for the Moores. Jennie and Leslie went to the Maine Aquarium in Saco with the first grade class on Tuesday.

Marc's parents, Harry and Bernie Moore, Goshen, Conn., arrived Thursday and are visiting for awhile.

Deni, Cub Scouts, and their families had a cookout at the Moores Friday evening.

Nathan Moore spent Friday night with Chuckie Mason, and Jennie Moore spent the night at Denny and Rita Wilson's.

Warren and Donna Merrill were surprised to see a bear standing up on his hind legs in their driveway.

Irene Wilson has had some wild animals around her place also. A fox evidently made some luncheon meat from one of her chickens and was back for supper when she saw it between the house and the chicken house. Saturday morning she saw a moose near the Irish Neighborhood turn.

Also Leah Deegan found a porcupine in a tree near her dog pen.

Telstar student takes 1st in NOVA chainsaw event

Charles Cole, of Telstar, took 1st place in the chainsaw event at the recent two-day High School Woodsman Meet, in Houlton.

Cole competed as a member of the NOVA Region 9 team. The team captured 2nd place in scout loading, dot splitting and crosscut sawing, and a 3rd in knowledge and tree felling.

Bethel

The Bethel Senior Citizens' June meeting will be held Wednesday, June 10, at 11 a.m. at the Locke Mills Town Hall. The Fireman's Auxiliary girls headed by Flossier Bernier will be serving a potluck dinner. Mansfield Packard will be in charge of the program.

Douglas Rice and children, Justin, Rachel, and Sarah, of Guilford, Conn., spent Memorial Day weekend with their family, Earlon and Mary Rice Keniston. They all joined family members for a cook-out on Sunday, the 24th, with Alton and Donna Howe and family of North Waterford.

Neil and Pat Donovan are proud to announce the birth of their third son, Finlan Craddock, on May 19, 1987. Finlan's two brothers are Patrick and Emmett. Quilters met for workshops two Wednesdays at the home of Barbara Yates. Each completed "Flying Geese" quilts with Karen Wight, instructor. Cross Country Quilters will meet Thursday morning, 9-11, at the home of Mabel Kennell.

The Roger Dock family of Glastonbury, Conn., were Memorial Day weekend guests of the Norm Docks. Sunday morning dooryard visitors were two young moose who watched curiously as their pictures were taken—then ambled through the fields toward Alder River. Sheldon A. Rice, of Waterford, was a member of the 23rd annual commencement exercises of Central Maine Vocational Technical Institute, Auburn, on Saturday, May 30. After completing a two year course in Marine Technology, Associate of Applied Science, he received his diploma as a Precision Machinist. He is presently employed for Maine Machine Products Co. of South Paris, where he has worked part-time during his course of study. He is the son of Donald Rice, formerly of Bethel, now Waterford, and Elaine Kimball of Phoenix, Ariz., formerly of East Waterford. Mr. and Mrs. Earlon Keniston of Bethel attended their grandson's graduation.

A family dinner party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keniston on Sunday, May 24, honoring three birthdays and one anniversary. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. David Keniston, Heath and Heather, of Norway; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Keniston of Turner; Mrs. Glenn Bangs, Deanne and Jonathan, of Dresden; Dr. and Mrs. Lennie Shaw, Jeni and Jon, Mrs. Elsie Davis, and the hosts, all of Bethel.

Mary Faine is ill at the Norway hospital.

Recent guests of the Joe Perry's were Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Hladik, Jonathan Perry and friend, Rick, from Bristol, Conn.

United Methodist Women will meet Friday, June 5, for a potluck dinner at the Methodist Church. Hostesses are Sylvia Clanton and Verna Dyke.

WENDY FORD RECEIVES M.E.D.

Wendy Ford, of Bethel, graduated from Plymouth State College of the University System of New Hampshire Saturday, May 16.

An education major, Ms. Ford was awarded her M.E.D. degree by PSC's Dean of the College George Bates, who conferred master's, bachelor's and associate's degrees on 610 students during the college's 118th commencement.

THE WEST BETHEL CHILDREN'S CENTER celebrated the end of the school year last week for both Head Start and Day Care students. Teachers and volunteers were given awards and the children sang songs. (Photo by Jeanne Boelsma)

East Bethel

By MYRA FOSTER

Many thanks to Jackson-Silver Post, of Locke Mills, for conducting services at the East Bethel Cemetery.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Gail Scribner on her death recently.

Anyone liking to get some kittens come to the Foster Farm on the Locke Mills-East Bethel Road, as Albert Foster has 14 little kittens of all colors and sizes. He would like to get rid of most of them.

Mrs. Floribel Haines, Mrs. Lillian Bartlett, Miss Dorothy Bartlett, Mr. and Mrs. Almon Coolidge; Mrs. John Coolidge; Mr. and Mrs. Erlon Bean; Mrs. Chester Harrington attended the graveside services for Mrs. Gail Scribner last Wednesday.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Almon Coolidge were Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Swan and daughter, Gloria, of Dixfield, and Mrs. Wilma Newell (Betty), of North Anson. Mr. and Mrs. Almon Coolidge were in Livermore Sunday visiting the graves and also calling on Charles Keith. Mrs. Julie Brown and children, Jon and Becky, of Rochester, N.H., visited the Bartlett Homestead last Wednesday. Mrs. Dorothy Graves, of Bethel, and Clayton Bartlett, of Kennebunk, were weekend visitors at the Bartlett Homestead.

Mrs. Maud Danforth, Mrs. Lillian Bartlett and Miss Dorothy Bartlett were in Portland last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Harrington were at York Beach from Thursday to Sunday, called there by the illness of Mrs. Harrington's mother, Mrs. Ralph Remington.

Little "Tinker" Gibson and Scott Mayberry, of Bethel, visited Mrs. Paul Kimball last Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kimball entertained at a cookout last Tuesday, with the following present: Hank Spague, Miss Esther Crockett, Gordon Crockett and son, Jarrad.

Bridge group meets for final session of season

The Bethel Round Robin Bridge group met for their final session of the season on Sunday, May 31, with 36 players enjoying an afternoon of bridge and dinner at Olde Rowley Inn, North Waterford.

First prize went to Al Barth, second to Bob Crane and third to Evaline Kimball, followed by Chris Otten, Norma Jodrey, Wilder Kimball, Wende Gray, Sue Crane, Lee Barth, Carolyn Brooks, and Pearl McMillin. Wendell Twitchell received the "glad you came" prize. Individual high scorer was Sue Crane and individual low scorer was Verna Thayer.

Another season of Round Robin Bridge will be started in early fall. Although the quota may be filled, interested persons may inquire about joining from any member of the committee: Sue Crane, Evaline Kimball or Connie Thurston.

Mrs. Jean Grover met a moose in the middle of the road while on her way to work one day last week. She finally stopped and told him to get off the road, which he very obligingly did, so she went merrily on her way, quite shaken up, but relieved.

Mrs. Josephine Tyler and Chris, of Dixfield, visited the Foster Farm last Tuesday. Albert Foster took us out to dinner at the Red Top restaurant, in Bethel. Mrs. Tyler picked up the kitten that Albert had given her, John Foster, of Andover, visited the farm Thursday. He helped me with the curtain rod of one of the living room curtains so I could put up my clean curtains and drapes.

Has anyone received the cards from Ensenada, Mexico, which I sent when we stopped there on our cruise April 20th?

From the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

We would like to remind all chamber members from Bethel that June 9 is the town meeting at Telstar Regional High School. The Bethel Board of Selectmen has placed on the town meeting warrant the chamber's request for $750 from the town to help fund the group's promotional and public relations activities on behalf of the town. To ensure that the article receives favorable treatment at town meeting it is essential for chamber members to attend the meeting and support the article. The following is a list of our accomplishments:

- We represent nearly 100 area businesses from 14 towns.
- We've answered nearly 750 inquiries this past year out of the office and mailed close to 10,000 brochures.
- We have an office on Main Street, Bethel, that serves as a regional information center for the area.
- We financed a forestry brochure to help our wood products industry's troublesome public relations image and are sending them out with each inquiry.
- We commenced the development of the Bethel Area Steam Era Railroadiana Museum.
- We organize Christmas programs in four of our area towns.
- We are a member of the Rte. 26 Corridor Committee and spoke out in favor of the East West Highway proposal.
- We sponsored and organized a shop local campaign for our retailers.
- We organized a candidates' forum for the general public.
- We provide all the publicity for Mollycodd Day, which has resulted in record attendance the past two years.
- We arranged to have Ronald McDon-

Meeting House Society's annual meeting June 8

The Middle Intervale Meeting House Society will hold its annual meeting on June 8 at 7 p.m.

Gertrude Hutchins will present the memorial gift book to the society. Final plans for the yard sale to be held in late June will be set and plans for this year's fund raising program will be discussed. All members are urged to attend this opening meeting for the 1987 season.

Kim and Hamako Mollroy, Mark Rogers, Laura, Marty, Lauren, and Jeff Paul, shared a lobster, crab, and garden salad dinner at the Mollroy's condominium Monday night.

Maureen Ginter has a college friend, Chong, staying with her at Fall Line. Chong is working at The Sudbury Inn for the summer before going back to graduate school in New Bedford, Mass.

Bruce and Mary Joe Licursi have moved from North Peak to Sunrise condominium this week. The construction at North Peak was too much for them.

The newest member of Yankee Construction, Ciero, has been banned from the worksite except during breaks. Apparently he does too much playing and not enough working. Leave your frisbee at home, Ciero.

Les and Chris Otten were due back from Reno this weekend. They were at an NSAA convention, but we're sure they had some time to gamble while they were there.

Nat Putnam has moved to Mt. Washington for the summer. Sunset tours on the auto road can be arranged.

Matthew Thurston found his bike. Thanks, Barbara.

Meredith Otten's riding lessons are going well. She's already jumping small fences.

Steven Cramton, Josh Otten, and Matthew Thurston made the Little League team this year. B.J. Otten made the Farm team. Congratulations to you all!

Welcome back to Judi Berry. She couldn't stand city life after all.

A group of local "folk" enjoyed the big billiards tournament in Rumford last week.

Megan McVey and Ross Lerner went to the Saco Aquarium on Tuesday with their class. Ross lost his front tooth on the trip.

Here's a tip for Celina: try putting your garbage out Sunday nights, that way you can sleep late on Mondays.

Fleets had another calf. She was born Thursday morning.

Jeff Nutting has been hard at work on his house. The new fence looks nice, but it's a little bit crooked, Jeff.

Andy Robitoux was in town for a few days. He's working with Outward Bound in New York this summer, but he'll be back and forth to Bethel.

The Umpire Makes the Wrong Call

Once there was a man who liked baseball. He wanted to be an umpire. He thought it would be fun to be an umpire. He didn't care what team it would be for. He just wanted to be one. Well, he kind of liked the Yankees, but it was O.K. if he wasn't going to be an umpire for them. He just wanted to be an umpire, since he was a little boy and he still does.

He used to collect baseball cards. He liked Ted Williams, who is now in the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y. Ted Williams is now known as "The Splendid Splinter." My dad used to like him, too. He was a real good player.

Now back to the story. The man's name was Joe. He watched a lot of umpires on T.V. He either wanted to be a homeplate umpire or a firstbase umpire. Joe knew all the motions, the umpires do by heart.

The next week he went to a Yankee game, but mostly all he did was EAT and DRINK. He was hungry. On his way home he saw a baseball store. He went inside, it had posters hanging down from the roof, baseball cards and baseballs. Finally he found umpire equipment. It had everything he needed. It had books and face masks and the thing that goes over his chest. He looked through the book. He decided he didn't need the book, but he got the rest of the stuff.

When he got home he tried all of the stuff. It fit great. He practiced for about one or two hours. Then he was real good. He called up the Yankees to see if they could use another umpire, but they didn't need one.

He called the Dodgers, but they said, "No!" So, he called the Red Sox, they said they could use one. The home plate umpire kept making WRONG CALLS. They would come and see him.

They said he was much better than the other one, so, they took Joe to Fenway Park. He was just what they were looking for, a good homeplate umpire.

It was October 20, 1987, in two days they would be playing the Yankees [the team he liked]. People call the Yankees the Bronx Bombers. Joe thought the Yankees would win. It was awfully close, but the Red Sox won, 6-5. Jim Rice, for the Red Sox, hit a home-run. Don Mattingly, for the Yankees, hit one, too. The next day they did not play.

The next day, they played the Angels. Roger Clemens [the A.L. Cy Young Winner] pitched for the Red Sox. How fast he pitched! It was hard to watch the ball. Especially for the empire. Roger Clemens didn't get a complete game. They had to put in Calvin Schiraldi, but he only struck-out one batter, so, they put in Bob Stanley. He made it for the rest of the game.

The score wasn't close. The Red Sox won 13-2. The next game they lost 2-1. They were playing the Blue Jays. George Bell hit a flyball to the new center fielder, Dave Henderson. They fired Tony Armas for him, at almost half of the season.]

The record was 93-24. They went to the play-offs. Joe was looking forward to it. They were playing the California Angels.

The first game they played was at Boston. In the fourth inning, Joe got hit. He went to the hospital. The Red Sox won 4 games in a row. They were going to the World Series.

Joe got to be there only in game seven. They were playing the Chicago Cubs. The Red Sox won 4-3.

The Small Adventure

One day on the island of Rupunellizinkabably, off the coast of Maine, where everything is psychodelic, lived three little girls. Their names were, Jill, Angela and Sarah. They were all ten years old, but they added their ages and said they were thirty. They did this so people would think they were older.

One day Jill, Angela and Sarah were walking down the street when the school bully, Killer, came along.

"Hi ya, Shrimps!" he said.

"Who are you calling Shrimps?" they asked.

"Well, it don't look like no one else is around!" he replied.

"Well, you couldn't be talking to us, we're thirty years old!" they exclaimed.

"Hah!" he said, ever so bluntly. "We'll see who's thirty years old I'll meet ya Saturday in the playground - be there!"

The three kids decided to run away. They snuck in their homes through their bedroom windows and packed their bags. They all met in Time Square and headed for southern Maine.

"We can get to Portland before nightfall," said Angela.

"Ya, but only if we hurry and catch the ferry. Come on, let's go catch the boat!" Sarah said.

"But we don't have any money!" Jill said.

"Yes, we do. I brought my piggy bank," Sarah replied.

"Well, how much money do you have?" Angela asked.

"Two dollars."

"That won't get us from here to Portland!" Jill and Angela shouted.

"No, but we could dress-up as cabin boys." Sarah got interrupted by Jill.

"But we're girls!" she yelled.

"Okay, cabin girls, but we have to get on board that ship!" said Sarah.

"Well, what are we waiting for?" Angela asked.

"Let's get going!"

So, they all snuck on the ship and found where they kept all of the cabin boys' clothes. They quickly changed and went out on the deck.

"Hi," they all said to the captain in scruffy voices, "We're the cabin boys."

"Scrub the floor," the captain shouted.

They just sat there for a while with an odd expression on their face.

"Come on, you heard me, scrub!" he shouted again. They began scrubbing. They scrubbed and scrubbed. Finally it was time for bed.

"I'm homesick already!" Sarah said.

"I wanna go home!" Jill said.

"Me, too!" Angela exclaimed.

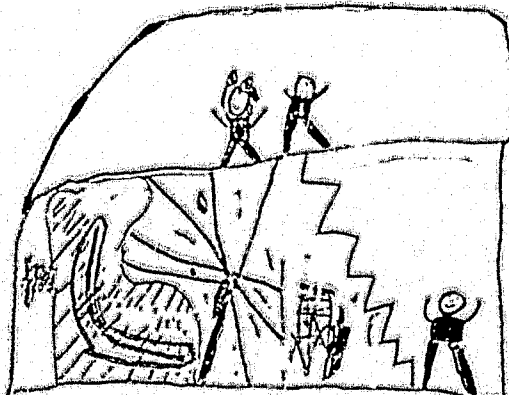

It was decided. The next day they boarded a different ship bound for their home island.

They faced Killer. It turned out he was scared, too. He was just acting mean because he was inferior.

About the Author

Angela belongs to a family of six. She has moved to Locke Mills recently from Vermont. She really enjoys writing, reading, math, dancing and acting. She likes to write dramatic, funny and exciting stories. She was born in Burlington, VT, on March 19, 1977. She likes most sports, but really likes basketball, volleyball, field hockey, skiing and soccer.

He's No Good

On Christmas Eve Amos, Trine, Michelle, Kristen and I were playing in the town of Bethel. All of a sudden we saw something moving in the bushes. It was the Easter Rabbit! I said, to myself, "He must be mixed up or something."

Kristen looked like she was thinking the same thing. Chris was in the treehouse out back, so he didn't know what was happening. I said to Amos, "Go get Chris and get him fast - this thing is funny!"

By the time they got back we had captured the rabbit, who told us his name. It was He's-No-Good.

I told my brother, Amos, that the rabbit could talk, but he didn't believe me, so I told Chris and he almost believed me, but not quite.

By the time they believed me, I had thought of a great idea.

"We're going to Florida in three days, so why don't we take He's-No-Good with us?"

That night I told my mom and she thought, that was a good idea.

When three days had gone by we packed our bags and the rabbit and headed off for the airport.

It took us three hours to fly there. We arrived at an airport called "Astronauts".

My mother decided to take us to Disney World. When we got there we saw Mickey Mouse and left He's-No-Good with him.

Naomi is a fourth grader at Crescent Park School in Bethel, ME. She has lived in Bethel most of her life. She was born in Augusta, ME on July 22, 1977. She is now nine years old and lives with her mom, dad and her twelve year old brother, Amos.

Her hobbies include dancing, swimming, skating, skiing and rollerskating. Naomi's favorite color is red. She has a penpal from Vinalhaven Island, ME. When Naomi grows up, she wants to be a Sunday School teacher. She has black hair and blue eyes.

The Warrior

Part I, Series III

Dedication

This book is dedicated to my friends Josh, Nate, Zach, Troy and Fabian.

Chapter One-The Caves

After the fall of the kingdom, the people of Arine were stricken by the fact that they must leave their homes and all that they had worked so hard for...or be ruled by the barbarian soldiers that had overtaken their land and killed their beloved leader Lionheart the IV and all his family. The trouble was the only place left to go was the evil land of Darkwood, which was filled with all clans of orcs, goblins, lycantheropes, slimes, giant bats, rats, tigers, lions, beetles, worms and worst of all - dragons.

The Warrior, because of the king's death, was to rule the people until a new king was appointed. You see, since all the king's family was killed, the king could not be chosen according to royal bloodline, otherwise the king's oldest son, Sir Harold, would inherit the royal crown, which was saved by the young messenger Blym when the barbarians attacked the castle. Now getting back to my story: The Warrior and the people of Arine were on their way to a huge cavern that he found in the first story of the Warrior, which was told to me by my grandfather, whose grandfather before him told him and so on until the time of the Warrior, because you see the Warrior is my ancestor and I was named after him. But back to my story (I tend to stray from it too often): When they got back to the cavern, the Warrior sent two scouts to search for danger. They never returned. So, the Warrior went himself. He returned with grave news. The cavern was infested with monsters and he would need a small party of his best men to rid the cavern of these enemies. He chose five expert fighters: one magic user, an elf, a halfling and two dwarfs to help him.

Chapter Two-Danger

The next day they entered the cavern and had a conference on what they were going to do. They finally decided to start on the right hand tunnels and end at the left tunnels. Shortly inside, they encountered a large creature with sixteen huge legs on each side and a long slimy body. It was a giant centipede. The party made short work of it and then moved on. Suddenly one of the dwarfs disappeared. A hand had reached out from a small room and grabbed him. The Warrior and an elf went into the room and found an orc ready to slit his throat.

"No!" shouted the Warrior and chopped off the orc's hand.

The orc yelled and dropped the dwarf. It charged the Warrior and thrust his sword at his stomach. The Warrior jumped aside and slashed its shoulder. The elf cut its knee. The orc had by now gotten itself so enraged that all trace of skill had gone. It was just stumbling around the room swinging blindly at everything it bumped into. It did not take long to finish the orc off.

Chapter Three-Harpy

They soon were on their way again and did not encounter any more monsters in that tunnel, so they took a shortcut to the next tunnel and started exploring that. They found nothing there and so they moved on to the next tunnel. As soon as they entered, they heard a strange and beautiful song. Suddenly, they felt an odd sensation to want to follow the song's sound and see what made the noise. Soon they were standing entranced at the entrance of a large room. They went in and saw a large creature with the wings and body of a monstrous eagle and the head of an ugly girl with long fangs and a huge mouth...a harpy! Before they could move, it struck. It swooped down ready to tear them from limb to limb, but unfortunately for the harpy, the Warrior would not allow that. With three lightning blows the harpy was lying on the floor gasping for breath and it died shortly after. Then the Warrior suddenly realized that they were lost. The harpy's song had lured them so far off the main corridor that now they would have great trouble finding the way out of the caves. The whole future of Arine was in their hands. They could not fail.

Stay tuned for the next Warrior story: The Warrior, Part II, series III.

The Ducks go Swimming

There were three ducks and they were going on an adventure through the river. They saw some birds and were very happy that they had gone for a little tour. Tomorrow we will see what happens.

And now we will continue. On their way through the river, they were swimming along and they bumped into a tree. They saw a slug which was interesting for the ducks, because they had never seen one. Then they left it alone and went home.

The Circus

"Well, it's almost time for the circus," said Angela as she walked into the kitchen.

"I can't wait!" said Jaclyn.

"Well, we'll have to wait, won't we?" replied Angela.

Angela was playing with a ball and the ball rolled out the door and into the forest. She ran after it.

Jaclyn said, "Well, it's only tomorrow - Ang, where are you?"

There was no answer. Jaclyn called again-still no reply. She ran to the livingroom, then back to the kitchen, then every other place she could think of.

Ang was nowhere in sight. So Jaclyn ran to her secret hiding place, up in a big Oak tree.

Ang started yelling. Jaclyn could hear her, but she couldn't see her, so she got down from her tree and started searching for Ang.

Jaclyn found her stuck in some bushes. She got caught by rolling down the hill. Jaclyn pulled as hard as she could and Angela popped out.

After that they went home and went to bed early.

The next morning finally came. They were off to the circus. Their favorite part of the show was when a man had a lion around his neck. The lion had a mad look on his face. Then the man stuck his head in the lion's mouth.

They went home and Ang said, "Let's draw pictures of the circus."

They drew big, colorful pictures and hung them in their rooms.

Jaclyn has been adding a lot more description and dialogue to her stories and her classmates love to read them. Jaclyn is a fun-loving, active girl, which you can tell by this action-packed adventure!

EBS/CPS Kids' World

By LAURIE BERGERON

Last week all the 3rd-graders had a great field trip to Grafton Notch. They were accompanied by park rangers Nathan Wight and Mark Wight. The informational, exciting and challenging hike on the Appalachian Trail included a picnic at Screw Augur Falls. Many thanks to the chaperones who made this trip possible.

Gould senior Danielle Hansler has spent two weeks with Mrs. Cohen's kindergartners. Danielle has done wonderful art projects with the children, which can be viewed at Gould Academy. They've made matrisse cutouts and still life fruits, using only torn paper to represent fruit. Danielle's help and presence will be missed.

First-graders shared their stories with Helen Berry's sophomore Creative Writing class from Telstar. The EBS students are looking forward to being guests of theirs at Telstar in the near future. First-graders enjoyed the appreciative audience from Telstar.

Second-graders enjoyed a visit from Audrey Prior, of the Continental Telephone Co. All students received their own phonebooks and had fun looking up their own and their friends' relatives' telephone numbers.

Last week Mr. Minkowsky, of CMP, visited EBS. Mr. Minkowsky told his 2nd-grade audience about the importance and benefits of electricity—also, very importantly, of its danger.

There was no rain in the K-2 singing picnic at EBS last week. Everyone enjoyed the wonderful performance of the students superbly planned and directed by Liz Mikenas-Smith.

Karen Coulter, Heather Gibb's aunt, visited Mrs. Coolidge's 2nd-grade with the black lab Misty. Misty has been to college and can even follow hand signals. The students were rightfully impressed by the demonstration on how a well-trained dog behaves.

Although it was a difficult task for judges to decide on the winners of the 5th-grade science fair projects, they finally succeeded. Congratulations to all the students on their hard work. And a special congratulations to the following winners:

In Mrs. Wheeler's class: 1st, Phoebe Hausman-Rogers, "Clocks"; 2nd, Jamie Lewis, "Magnets"; 3rd, Nathan Harvey, "Skeletons"; honorable mention, Darrin Reynolds, "Space Shuttle."

In Mrs. Barry's class: 1st, Jennifer Bean, "Planet Growth"; 2nd, Dustin Sysko, "Thermal Syphon"; 3rd, Sheila Douglass, "Body Organs"; honorable mention, Josh Otten, "Lasers."

In Mrs. Newcomb's class: 1st, Misty Hutchins, "Microwaves"; 2nd, Sarah Coolidge, "Magnets"; 3rd, Lee Mason, "Trees"; honorable mention, Jennifer Bewie, "Space."

Mrs. Gould's and Mrs. Otero-Otero's 1st-graders enjoyed a trip to the Maine Aquarium in Saco. It was an exciting, learning trip, which included a lecture about tidal pools. Students saw and held some of the creatures that live in tidal Masters (Bob) York of Williamstown, Vt., was an overnight visitor last Friday of Mrs. Elmira Doyen on his way to Winthrop. He called again Sunday on his way home. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Awall, of Augusta, were overnight visitors Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. John Hindman, of Windham, were there overnight Sunday.

Miss Susan Lincoln and friend, of Hingham, Mass., spent the holiday weekend at the Lincoln home here. Matthew Blaha and friend, of New Jersey, were also weekend guests.

Mrs. Christine Kimball with her daughter, Mrs. Alberta Ridlon, of Norway, were in Portland Friday and also called on Christine's cousin, Mrs. Marion Reed in North Yarmouth. Mr. and Mrs. Urban Winslow and her mother, of Florida, and Mrs. Arlene Winslow were visitors of the Jimmy Kimballs Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Whitney, of Casco, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jewell, of Waterford, were also callers Friday.

Our sympathy to the families of Mary Carroll and Marlon Parker. Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Gatchell and Brandon Gatchell, of Old Orchard Beach, were callers here during the weekend. Also Mr. and Mrs. Herb Adams, of Hanover. Thanks Herbie for tilling my garden.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nelson and son, Dale and family, went to Oxford Sunday and attended open house at the airport. Brenda Files and Mrs. Vickie McGade went to Rumford Monday.

Miss Shirley Grant, of Auburn, visited her brother Bob Grant and wife over the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Barker have returned to their home on Keewaydin Lake after staying in their home in Florida. Mrs. Eleanor Nelson spent the holiday in Boston with her daughter Sharon and family. She also visited her brother Donald, in Melrose.

My niece, Barbara Millett, and her mother visited me Tuesday. Barbara is having two weeks vacation from her work in Norway.

Brenda Files and Becky Hatstat are working in a camp at Waterford. Miss Christine Nelson, of Woburn, Mass., was here for Memorial Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Doughty, of Norway, attended church here Sunday and called on friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Nelson, and two children, also Miss Christine Nelson, of Woburn, Mass., were visitors here at the Nelson home. They all attended church here.

Mrs. Sarah Groves was out making calls on the ill and shut-ins Saturday. Several from here attended the Christian Women in Service meeting at the Wilkins House, in Waterford, Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Heino have retired and have moved into their new home here.

Brenda Files was visited by several of her relatives, of Norway, Sunday. Mrs. Frances Grant and her sister Eleanor went to the cemetery in Newry Monday.

Mrs. Lapham, of Albany, visited Brenda Files one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis McAllister are having their house painted. Their son Mike is doing the work.

Hannah R. Richardson Tent #19 Daughters of Union Veterans, voted to hold their May meeting May 20 to adjust to the early observance of Memorial Day this year.

Members met at East Stoneham Cemetery at 5:30 p.m. at the grave of Minerva Dudley—a member who served the order for her 42 years of membership.

Her daughter Marilyn attended this service. Following this service all assembled at the honor roll in the church yard where a short service was held in honor of the persons who served during World War II. The names were read by Dwight Grover, and our thanks to him for his observance and help.

Supper was served at the K. of P. Hall

Young Mothers group meets June 17 at Telstar

The Young Mothers Support Group will meet Wednesday, June 17, from 7 to 9 p.m., at the Telstar Regional High School resource room.

The week's topic will be on Self Esteem and Goal Setting, presented by Sue Ellen Richardson, social services coordinator for Community Concepts, Inc.

Looking ahead, on Wednesday, July 15, the topic will be Budgeting, presented by Wendy Legg Pollock, from Oxford County Extension Service.

If you need transportation or child care, call Judi Brown, at 824-2136. Coordinators of the group are Judi Brown, Susan Haley and Kathy Sutton.

Wight attending first LURC meeting Thursday

Steve Wight, of Newry, will attend his first meeting of the Land Use Regulation Commission (LURC) Thursday at Sugarloaf Ski Area. Appointed by Governor McKernan in April, Mr. Wight is the first member to serve on the commission from the western mountains area of the state.

In addition to the regular monthly meeting, LURC will be holding joint public hearings with the Bureau of Environmental Protection (BEP) at Sugarloaf to receive comments on the proposed Stratton Biomass Project. The project, an industrial complex designed to burn wood chips and forest waste to produce electricity, would be located in the town of Eustis and on the edge of the Bigelow Mountain Preserve. Joint permits from LURC and BEP are required for the project because it would be constructed partially in the organized town of Eustis under the jurisdiction and partially in the unorganized territories of Coplin Plantation and Wyman Township where land use is governed by LURC.

The two regulatory agencies will have to weigh the economic benefits and the power producing capacity of the installation against possible adverse environmental impact in making their decisions. The hearings will be held on Thursday evening and all day Friday and participation is invited.

Delegates were previously elected and notified. It is hoped as many will attend as possible. Will recess for July and August.

Gilead

By LOUISE LORING

For many years, ever since I've come to live up in this neck of the woods, I've wanted to see a real live moose. Everyone I know has seen them, standing on their lawns and looking in their windows, moseying along through town, and I have often wondered why I wasn't one of the "chosen ones." The selected tidbits of information have titillated my imagination and I have felt left out considerably.

For instance, a couple of years ago, it seems Mr. Moose took a mid-morning stroll and my next door neighbor saw him, warning the town clerk of his approach, as she stood "rapping" with a solid citizen in front of the row of mailboxes. Unfortunately I was inside the kitchen, toiling over a broken-down Maytag, and missed out again with the opportunity of a lifetime. I have yet to see the elusive Mr. Moose in this area, and I apparently failed again on Memorial morning. My husband was on his haunches in the pea patch when he yelled, "Take a walk over here in the garden a minute, will ya?"

Being a dutiful wife, I dropped my dish wiper and started for the backyard. "Well, what is it," I asked, thinking he had discovered a new strain of alien insect invaders.

"Come over here and follow me," was his next command.

There, about 50 feet above the pea patch, were the hugest tracks I've ever seen.

"A moose passed by," he said, "and a big bruiser it was, too."

"How long ago?" I queried nervously.

"Sometime this morning, fresh tracks—must have crossed here to go down to the river," he mused.

Foiled again by the dreadful early hours it seems to want to keep. However, I am thrilled to report that this day before, when we were traveling down Rte. 2, just below Favreau's mill, before you get to the curve by the Kimball house, I saw what I thought were two horses by the roadside to my left. Mr. L was cruising along at the speed limit, looking straight ahead, when the "horses" turned.

"Moose!" I yelled. He braked and started for the ditch, as the pair of them tried to make up their minds where to go. Putting on their brakes just over the yellow line (they were frantically scrambling, all legs and quite gawky) they headed for the opposite side of the road from whence they came, thankfully.

Now my question is: did those two brutes sense my excitement at having seen them, and decided to jog up here the following morning just to say "hello?"

Rumor has it that even wild animals read my column, so if you're out there, I'm still waiting up here, Polaroid in hand.

Only could you manage to come up just around coffee break? I'm free then—and crossing the tracks around 9:30.

(All you jesters keep your comments to yourselves.) Peace everyone.

Sunday River skiway pushes airline vacations

Representatives from Sunday River Ski Resort's marketing department recently exhibited at Ski Group '87, a nationwide ski industry travel show promoting group vacations to travel agents, corporate meeting planners and ski club trip leaders.

Sunday River, in conjunction with Delta Air Lines, traveled to Atlanta, Orlando and Ft. Lauderdale. The resort officials, with USAIR and AAA Great Escape Vacations, then traveled to Charlotte, N.C., Washington, D.C., Philadelphia, Cleveland, Chicago and Indianapolis to promote three- and five-day vacation packages, including air fare, ground transportation, lodging and lift tickets.

Marketing manager Wende Gray commented, "We are no longer just a ski area but a ski resort, with all the amenities the vacationer expects: major airlines serving Portland Jetport, skier-sized rental automobiles and on-mountain lodging with pools, saunas, jacuzzis and restaurants. We also have what others don't—the historic village of Bethel, with white churches, town common, craft shops, a real working village, and, of course, the mountain that provides a variety of terrain with 50 trails, a modern lift system, and snowmaking over 80 percent of the mountain."

Sunday River is currently in the midst of a $25 million summer expansion, the largest in the northeast. Highlighting the expansion is Maine and New Hampshire's first detachable, high-speed, quad chair.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends, plus anyone else interested, are cordially invited to the Bethel Historical Society's monthly meeting on June 4, at 7:30 p.m., in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House. Featured during the program portion of the meeting will be a presentation on the life and music of "Mellie" Dunham of Norway, who, in 1925, achieved national fame as a fiddler after being invited to play for auto magnate Henry Ford.

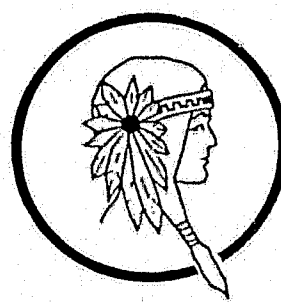

The eighth annual Faye Taylor Memorial Art Show was held on Saturday, May 30, at the Dr. Moses Mason House. Several hundred entries from SAD #44 elementary (grades 1-6) schools were received.

Winners were: Grades 1 and 2—first prize, Jerry Bernier, Ethel Bisbee School; second prize, Amy Lynn Hale, Ethel Bisbee School; third prize, Brett Harvey, Ethel Bisbee School. Grades 3 and 4—first prize, Anneliese Bass, Crescent Park School; second prize, Sadie E. Gallant, Andover Elementary School; third prize, Tim Remington, Crescent Park School. Grades 5 and 6—first prize, Phoebe Hausman-Rogers, Crescent Park School; second prize, David Jacques, Andover Elementary School; third prize, Hollie Salway, Andover Elementary School. Cash prizes and ribbons were awarded in each category. Judges this year were James B. Owen, Arla Patch, and Suzanne Taylor.

The show is supported in part by a donation from the Bethel Savings Bank and honors a founding member of the Bethel Historical Society who was particularly interested in art for young people. Much appreciation is expressed to all those who made the show such a success and to Art Committee members Kathy Bennett, Helen Morton and Sue Wight for their efforts.

On Sunday afternoon the society honored the 188th birthday of Dr. Moses Mason with a reception at his home on Broad Street. Portraying the Doctor and his wife once again were Ernest and Betty Perkins. The birthday cake was made as usual by Diane S. Howe. Serving punch was Floribel Haines. Hostesses for the afternoon were Judy Haskell and Margaret Davis. Craft demonstrators were Mabel Kennett, quilting; Helen Morton, sketching on scratchboard; Dick Hastings, needlepoint; Agnes Haines, basketmaking. During the afternoon Society Director Stanley R. Howe spoke on the subject, "Lost Bethel," which focused on buildings and other structures lost through the years to fire, neglect, and deliberate destruction. Among the guests attending this year were a couple from London, England.

A hearty welcome is extended to Eleanor MacMunn who recently joined the staff of the Bethel Historical Society at the Dr. Moses Mason House through the support of Green Thumb, Inc. One of Mrs. MacMunn's projects in the next few months is to collect, alphabetize and record on cards all the known Bethel births, marriages and deaths from the earliest days to the present. This will allow the society to better serve its public since there are many requests each year for vital records information.

More information will be printed as it is available.

For students of Bethel's past, Fawn Brodie's biography of Joseph Smith, No Man Knows My History (New York: Alfred A. Knopf, 1985) will be of interest. Brodie records that the founder of Mormonism (Church of Latter Day Saints) married a Bethel woman as one of his 48 wives. She was Olive Grey Frost, born in Bethel on July 24, 1816 (see W.B. Lapham's History of Bethel, p. 338), the daughter of Aaron and Susan Gray Bennett Davis Frost. She married Smith in 1843 to become the wife number 35. When her husband was murdered in 1846, Brodie writes that she "for a time went quite mad." Prior to her death a few months later, she married Smith's successor as leader of the Church, Brigham Young, who had visited Bethel in August 1836 in search of converts. Olive Grey Frost's sister, Mary Ann Pratt, wife of Mormon Elder Parley P. Pratt, also married Joseph Smith as wife number 38 in 1845.

Latest contributors to the 1987 Endowment Campaign include Dale M. Dyke, Rumford; Elizabeth Whiteman, Elkins Park, Pa.; Leona Flint, Bethel, in memory of Mary Carroll; Julia Brown, Bethel, in memory of Mary Carroll; Barbara Wheeler, Bethel, in memory of Mary Carroll; Martha Von Zint, Bethel, in memory of Mary Carroll; Elizabeth W. Baker, Rumford Point, in memory of Mary Carroll.

Newest members of the Bethel Historical Society are Marian Penley Gates, of Ann Arbor, Mich., and Joan Penley Dettler, of Santa Fe, N.M.

Results of Rep. Mills' constituent survey

State Rep. Jeff Mills (D-Bethel) recently released the results of a constituent survey which he conducted during the spring for District 49. Over 400 individuals returned survey forms with answers to seven questions relating to important issues facing the state. Constituents were in favor of property tax reform by increasing the state share of education costs, felt that state spending for tourism promotion should remain the same or be decreased, and strongly favored mandatory automobile liability insurance for motorists, the establishment of school health clinics, the retention of the doe permit system, and the replacement of underground gasoline and oil storage tanks every 15 years. Respondents were not in favor of the building of a new maximum security prison.

Rep. Mills found that 81 percent of those responding to the survey favored the recommendation of the Speaker's Select Committee on Property Tax Reform which would increase the state share of education funding from 58 percent to 60 percent of the cost. Not favoring this was 12 percent, with 7 percent being undecided.

On the question of increasing the state budget for tourism promotion, which is supported by the governor, only 14 percent of the residents of District 49 who responded favored the $3 million increase proposed by Governor McKernan, with 20 percent interested in a smaller increase, 41 percent desiring to keep tourism promotion at its present level of expenditure, and 22 percent interested in seeing the amount reduced. Only 3 percent were undecided.

Mandatory liability insurance for motorists was favored by 75 percent of those responding, with 20 percent opposed, and 5 percent undecided. Of those responding, 35 percent favored the building of a new maximum security prison, with 43 percent opposed and 22 percent undecided.

The threat of contamination of drinking water by leaks from eroding underground oil and gas tanks convinced 60 percent of the respondents to favor mandatory replacement of such tanks every years, with 25 percent opposed, and 13 percent undecided.

Sixty-eight percent of those responding to the school health clinics to combat Maine's high rate of teenage pregnancy, with 23 percent opposed and 9 percent undecided. The retention of the doe permit system instituted in 1986 was favored by 64 percent of those responding, with 25 percent opposed, and 10 percent undecided.

Rep. Mills expressed gratitude to all the residents of his district who took the time to respond to the survey. Many add-

Amos Campbell, of Lewiston, visited his sisters, Mrs. Floyd Emerson and Mrs. Walter Jodrey, on Saturday, May 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter Radley, of Old Orchard Beach, called on her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Trine and Michelle on Sunday.

The Wayne Kerchner family, of Wellesley, Mass., spent the Memorial Day holiday at the Dresser Homestead on Main Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Reed, of Enfield, Conn., have been visiting his mother, Mrs. Beatrice Dresser. On May 17 they took Mrs. Dresser and his sister, Mrs. Beatrice Flaherty to the North Restaurant, in Berlin, N.H., to celebrate Mrs. Dresser's birthday.

Mrs. Douglas Reed stayed this week with her father, Howard Glover, who has just returned home after being a patient at Rumford Community Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bihlmeyer (nee Dale Reed), of Enfield, Conn., visited his grandmother, Mrs. Beatrice Dresser, over the weekend. They were supper guests of her grandfather, Howard Glover, on Saturday night.

Darwin (Jim) Adams has a contribution under "Humor in Uniform" in the June issue of Reader's Digest.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Fox, of Bethel, were supper guests of Mrs. Ann Fox on Friday and Miss Nancy Fox had lunch with her on Sunday.

Rev. Marjorie Churchill had as her sermon topic on Sunday, May 24, at the First Congregational Church, "My Peace I Give To You." Hymn of devotion, "I Would Be True." Hymn of dedication, "Blest Be The Tie." Youth Group met at 6:30 p.m. Next Sunday will be confirmation and communion brunch sponsored by Youth Group. Deacon on call is Kathy Williamson, 392-1631.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Emerson Sr. were at the Portland Jetport on Wednesday to meet their daughter, Mrs. Billy Bartlett, of Ann Arbor, Mich.

Florence Hall, a patient at the Rumford Community Hospital, was taken to the Central Maine Medical Center in Lewiston for tests on Tuesday and returned to the Rumford hospital after the tests.

Mrs. Louise Powell planted flowers for her mother, Mrs. Alma Hewey, along her walkway at Elderwood Manor on Tuesday. Many other tenants are waiting until they think there'll be no danger of frosts.

Mrs. Pauline Virgin and Mrs. Marion Holmes, of Bath, are visiting this week with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Galarneau, at Roxbury Pond.

On Wednesday afternoon the Andover Elementary School's softball team won the second game against Woodstock Elementary School. They also won the first game on May 20.

Mrs. Carter Radley, of Old Orchard Beach, and her mother, Mrs. Viola Linscott, visited her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Trine and Michele on Tuesday. They also called on Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jodrey and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Emerson Sr. and Ray Learned.

On Thursday the Woodstock Elementary School came to Andover Elementary School for an all-day track meet. By the cheering heard from my house they had a very exciting time.

Octavia and Medea Poole, granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Emerson Sr., Andover, have been very busy traveling from Oakley to Escondido to take part in their Southern California band program.

In April the girls flew to Escondido for the "Concert on the Green" where Medea played a Tiffany solo in a narrative of "Peter and the Wolf" and Octavia played the piccolo in Lapland as well as the flute in other numbers.

The girls took part in a performance with the Edna Hill Band of Northern California and toured Southern California the last week in April at Disneyland.

They were accompanied at all times by their mother, Mrs. Anthony Poole, who's suffering from jet lag.

On May 22, at the last concert of the year at Edna Hill Brentwood, it was announced to the large audience that Medea had been chosen for drum major for the '87-'88 school year. She and Octavia will be attending drum major week at Stanford University in July.

Calvary Congregational Church Sunday School for all ages at 9:30 a.m. Sunday School Superintendent Marge Stinson opened with prayer and scripture reading, Ma. 5:13-16, using a lamp with three switches illustrating: God's way, God's word, and God's will. We learn these truths by reading his word. The Mother's Day cards were made by each child or young person, with their selection of a silk flower. They were well received by each "Mom."

Busy season predicted for WMNF campgrounds

Twenty-one campgrounds in the White Mountain National Forest (WMNF) are now open for the summer camping season. Forest Service officials predict a record camping season.

"With some decent weather we should have a busy camping season," said Earl Niewald, recreation officer for the WMNF. "We have received a large number of inquiries, and early campground use is heavier than normal."

The popular Dolly Copp Campground, near Gorham, N.H., is open, but will undergo improvement work during much of the summer. Ninety percent of the campground was expected to be available by last weekend. An improved entrance road and water system should improve camping at that area.

Jigger Johnson and Passaconaway campgrounds, on the Kancamagus Highway, and Wildwood Campground, on Rte. 112, in New Hampshire, will be operated by private concessionaires once again this year. Mr. Niewald said the concessionaires have been able to provide campers with more services and maintain the sites well. Last year was the first year for turning the campgrounds over to private enterprise.

"All our camping areas provide basic services with no frills," Mr. Niewald explained. "No electric hook-ups or showers. Tent pads, tables, fireplaces, parking area, water and restrooms and, of course, the surrounding National Forest, is what you get for your fee."

Fees at National Forest campgrounds are $6 to $8 per site. Group campground rates vary from $10 to $25 per day, based on the size of the group.

Additional information on the WMNF campgrounds can be obtained from the ranger station in Bethel, or by writing the WMNF, Box 638, Laconia, N.H. 03247.

AES softballers win 2nd

The Andover Elementary School softball team won its second straight game last Wednesday, defeating Woodstock Elementary School, 16-7.

Chad Bishop pitched very well and Jason Standeven and Nathan Emery played well in the field.

Jon Thurston hit a homerun and collected six RBI. Peter Misericordi teamed up for four outs at second base.

The 50-yard dash had the most competitors, and very close times, leaving a three-way tie for 3rd place among the boys. Nathan Emery and Aaron Milligan, plus Albert Silver, from W.E.S., all timed at 6.1 seconds. Jon Thurston had the winning edge, timed at 5.9, with Cory Campbell, of W.E.S., sandwiched in between, with a time of 6.0.

Patty Hand, of W.E.S., clinched 1st place in the 50-yard dash, in 6.2 seconds, while Sarah Delephine, of A.E.S., came in just behind her, in 6.3, with teammate Sharon Kangas (W.E.S.) picking up 3rd place, with 6.4 seconds.

All competitors gave it their all on such a hot and humid day. Phys Ed instructor Reyna Cole congratulated both teams.

The scores were as follows:

A.E.S. defeats W.E.S. in 5th/6th grade track

Andover Elementary School clinched the title in the third annual 5th and 6th grade track meet against Woodstock Elementary School last Thursday, at Andover. The final score was 62-48.

Some of the highlights of the meet included the W.E.S. girls sweeping the long jump events, with Theresa Curtis scooping first place, jumping 9-feet, 1-inch; Jaimee Bollo 8'4" and Tracy Reavis 7'9".

The only girl who dared to compete in the 600-yard run was 5th-grader Sharon Kangas, getting a super time of 2:13:33, while the Andover boys swept the 600, with Jason Standeven streaking to the finish line first, after a super kick at the end, passing Nathan Emery on the homestretch, getting a time of 2:04.3. Nathan was right on Jason's heels, holding a very steady pace throughout the race, with a time of 2:05.3. Danny Irish also ran a great race, holding onto 3rd place, with a time of 2:14.0.

The Andover girls swept the shot put events, with Kelly Cronin leading, with a put of 20'11"; 2nd was Robin Palmer, at 19'10", and Suzann Richardson picked up 3rd place, with a distance of 19'7".

Other highlights were Jon Thurston putting the shot 34'5" for a 1st. The discus event was won by Aaron Milligan, with an incredible 66'10 1/2". For the girls, Joanne Masher threw 49'6 1/2" for 1st place.

The 200-yard run was won by Patty Hand, of W.E.S., in a time of 34.6 seconds, while Jon Thurston, of A.E.S., won the boys', with a close time of 32.1 seconds.

State CEP warns flood victims who haven't applied for aid

The state bureau of Civil Emergency Preparedness this week warned those flood victims who have put off applying for aid that Monday is the absolute last day they can apply for such aid.

"We know from our contact with several individuals that people are still confused about the process," said CEP Director Dave Brown. "Some are thinking that they need not apply to get assistance from sources like State Housing or the Red Cross."

"The fact remains, however, that the only way to receive any of the assistance that's been available, or that has recently become available, is to apply through the Federal Emergency Management Agency, and that application must be completed by June 8."

At this late date, Mr. Brown said, the best alternative if one has not yet formally applied for flood relief is to call the toll-free Disaster Hotline, at 1-800-225-2654.

Maine ski areas see 53% increase in skiers

Maine's eight major ski areas experienced a whopping 53.5 percent increase in the number of lift tickets they sold last winter, according to Karen Brace, executive director of the Ski Maine Association.

Ms. Brace was the guest speaker Monday at a luncheon hosted by Sunday River Ski Resort for local businesspeople connected with winter tourism. More than 75 people attended the luncheon, at D.W. McKee's. (When Sunday River first started the local ski industry luncheons three years ago, only a dozen people attended.)

While the purpose of the luncheon was to let the various innkeepers and restaurateurs know what the skiway was planning in the way of expansion and expanded business, the local tourism community was also happy to hear that skiing statewide was increasing rapidly.

Ski Maine's Executive Director Brace said the state's ski areas combined for a total of close to one million skier days. (A skier day is defined as one skier on the slopes for one day; it would generally equate to one lift ticket sold, less complimentary tickets.)

Ms. Brace credited the excellent snow conditions of the '86-'87 winter for much of the increase in skiers. But she also noted that the state's ski schools taught over 51,000 new skiers last winter. That was a 25 percent increase in the number of new skiers over the year before. And that boded well for the future of the industry in Maine, she said.

The industry provided increased employment opportunities last season, she said, with jobs increasing by 15 percent. Over 45 percent of the ski areas jobs were full-time jobs, she said.

Ms. Brace said the increased number of skiers coming to Maine slopes is due, in large part, to the efforts being made by the slopes themselves to attract skiers who used to ski in Vermont or New Hampshire.

Sunday River's Marketing Director Wende Gray pointed out that, in fact, Sunday River's promotional budget is larger than the state's budget for promoting the ski industry. She indicated that this was a less-than-sufficient effort by the state to help the industry.

SPORTS AWARDS NIGHT THURSDAY AT TELSTAR

Telstar Regional High School Athletic Awards Night will be Thursday, June 4, at 7 p.m.

Parents of spring athletes are invited. The Telstar Boosters Club will serve dessert after the awards ceremony.

LYLE WIGGIN (right) recently received a certificate and pin for 35 years of government service. Making the presentation is Evans Notch District Ranger Chad Converse. Mr. Wiggins joined the government service in 1950 when he enlisted in the Air Force. His first Forest Service position was that of fire tower lookout. In 1956, all of his Forest Service career has been on the Evans Notch Ranger District, starting when the office was located upstairs above L.L.M. Longley and Sons, on Main Street, Norway. Mr. Wiggins is a forestry technician.

From Augusta

In an earlier column, I wrote about the pressing need for quality child care in Maine and promised to keep you informed of upcoming child care proposals. A long awaited proposal, LD 1551, An Act to Increase the Availability and Improve the Quality of Child Care in Maine was presented before a crowded Appropriations Committee last Wednesday.

Perhaps more than any other proposal, LD 1551 takes an aggressive step toward making child care a routine and accepted part of the working world in Maine. By providing child care for dislocated workers and persons enrolled in job training programs, this bill places the consideration of child care at the beginning of the employment process rather than merely as an afterthought. It recognizes that providing quality child care is as important to Maine's economy as providing quality job training.

The emergence of new industries and new technologies in Maine will require greater participation in job training programs. One of the major reasons people drop out of or do not enroll in training programs is lack of affordable child care. LD 1551 would provide funds to create more child care opportunities for parents in this difficult position.

Supporters of the bill pointed out that an estimated 25,000 Maine children, age 5 through 12, spend time unsupervised each week. Meanwhile, many schools are vacant. Some school districts are able and willing to become involved in child care, but do not have the expertise to do it. This bill directs the Commissioner of Education to establish the Child Care Assistance Program to provide technical assistance to schools in developing non-school-hour child care.

LD 1551 also provides a 15 percent salary increase to child care workers in agencies contracted to serve through the Department of Human Services. Sponsors of the bill testified that child care workers, who are often highly trained, carrying bachelors or masters degrees in early childhood development, are lost because of the extremely low salaries. "We often say that our children are our most important resource. If that is true, shouldn't we offer a living wage to those who care for them," they argued.

It was stressed that over the past four years, day care providers who provide slots to the Department of Human Services have not received federal cost of living adjustments. As a result, Maine has lost approximately 200 day care slots. LD 1551 provides for a statutory cost of living adjustment for these day care providers.

The need for child care is not likely to decline in future years. In fact, it is

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, is endeavoring to bring frequently to you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your daily life.

Today, as I write this article, it is less than 24 hours since I attended the funeral of my mother. Encountering what the Bible refers to as "The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death." However, experiencing the truth of the words the Apostle Paul penned, "We sorrow not as others who have no hope."

Paul writes in I Cor. 15:54-55, "Death is swallowed up in victory. O Death, where is thy sting? O Grave, where is thy victory?"

We, as a family, could experience joy and victory in sorrow, for my mother had received Christ as her Lord and Saviour as a young girl and had spent her 90 years living for the Lord. So death for her was just a transfer. Imagine, as someone has written, "stepping on shore and finding it God's shore." Taking the last breath in a hospital room, and waking in Heaven to behold the face of Jesus.

We declare again with the words of Paul, in Romans 7, thanks be unto God, that victory in life's most difficult moments can be ours through Jesus Christ.

All of us can face the future, including death as confident as my mother was, by turning from our own ways, and receiving by faith the Lord Jesus as our personal Lord and Saviour. "For by grace are you saved through faith; and that not of yourselves, it is the gift of God—not of works, lest any man should boast." Ephesians 2:8 and 9.

Pastor David Larson

estimated that by 1990, 67 percent of all children will live in households where both parents work.

Recognizing this trend, the bill directs the Governor to consider child care needs in the development of any future state economic development strategy. This alone would be a major step forward for child care in Maine.

Regardless of how attractive these proposals appear, they must be considered within the context of available state revenues. If we are not able to fund all of them next year, we will at least have our goals set for future years.

Please review these proposals carefully and feel free to contact me with your opinions.

State DEP warns Andover on landfill

Acting upon complaints about the burning of garbage in Andover's landfill, the state Department of Environmental Protection has notified town selectmen that the town's landfill is no longer adequate.

The DEP investigation stemmed from the fact that individuals have been burning garbage in the landfill, against state law and without approval of town officials, according to Selectman Laura Hutchins. The town has had problems keeping a supervisor at the site, she noted, because the attendant's hut was vandalized earlier this year, with the windows and stovepipe ripped out.

Residents were reminded by the selectmen that they will need a dump sticker in order to use the landfill.

Selectman Raymond Hutchins said the Board of Selectmen has been unable to find another landfill area within the town. It the town opts for hauling solid waste to a commercial landfill, the closest site would be Noyesville, he explained, which is the destination for trash from Greenfield, Woodstock, West Paris, and a number of other areas towns.

The damage done to the attendant's hut, plus the slashings on Main Street, led selectmen, at their meeting last week, to discuss the need for a town constable.

On the positive side, Fire Chief Dixon was happy to announce that Andover now has five new volunteer EMT's. Mr. Dixon is one, along with Ed Kreiton, Arthur Whitten, Jr., Amy Cole, and Arthur Cole, Jr. These five received training in Bethel and can provide enhanced medical treatment at the scene of the accident, said Chief Dixon.

The town has hired Steven Swasey to grade the South Arm road and fill with gravel where necessary. Flood-damaged roads will be repaired with the $13,900 Andover will receive from state and federal funds.

Selectmen are looking for people to volunteer as members of a planning board for the town. Mr. Hutchins said he would like to see a planning board in town before development causes serious problems, as it has in North Conway and Bethel.

KEEP US IN MIND

It's that time of year when your local Rotary Club must start gathering ideas for our annual auction. The proceeds of all of our efforts go to support such projects as the Senior Citizen Christmas Dinner, Christmas Food Baskets for the needy, student scholarships, support of the local health facilities, summer camp tuition, area athletes expenses, disabled individuals needs, etc. If you're cleaning the garage, attic, or cellar, let us get rid of those unneeded items for you. Call Roger Corbett, 824-2131 or 824-2269, for pickup. Help us with your support of our projects. It's a good feeling!

As I see it...

Within the past five years Bethel's struggle for economic growth seems to have been swept up in a tide of expansion; its traditional farming and lumbering industries could not provide jobs and incomes to support its families in an era of high tech and high taxes. And the Depression years' dream of "a chicken in every pot" has changed to the dreams of at least two cars in every yard, TV's, VCR's, stereos and scanners, with motor bikes, Skidoo's and/or a three-wheeler for every kid.

So when travelers/tourists began to discover our rural community, it was a boon to the small businesses and tourist homes in town. But they were, after all, tourists and, as such, required only temporary demands upon our resources, i.e., well-kept highways, parking, water, waste treatment, as well as our hospitality.

We loved it...the income, the pride of being the stewards of a unique community. They loved it too, as our realtors and developers can attest, by sales of existing property as well as for as-yet-unbuilt housing units.

Change is inevitable, and it is quite possible that Bethel might have gone the way of other rural towns in Maine...to quiet obscurity...except that historically we happen to be a center of education...Gould Academy (1836-1987) and the National Training Lab (1947-1987) with scholars and participants from all over the world. And we are also at the hub of two growing skiways—Mt. Abram and Sunday River. It has brought Bethel the economic potential we sought; yet in our zeal, enthusiasm, greed—you name it—we seem to have overlooked several extremely important issues:

1). Bethel's water supply: an excellent source of fresh mountain water, enough supply in reserve for four days. But for how many people? For what kind of an emergency?

2). Bethel's parking facilities: Bethel Inn once boasted parking garages (now becoming housing units) for horse-drawn carriages or automobiles and chauffeurs. On Church Street the Congregational Church had carriage stables, and some other small businesses provided parking space. Where do we park now? And for how many people?

3). Bethel's waste treatment plant: Almost as soon as it was completed, in 1973, it was too frequently inadequate for Bethel's then-stable user demands. Two years ago it was declared to be in violation of the Department of Environmental Protection's regulations. Currently the projected growth involves at least 90 new high density housing units. And it is crass and irresponsible for anyone to aver that it's OK if raw sewage goes into the Androscoggin for a couple of days, or that we'll find someone who can help us circumvent the DEP's regulations. What and where are Bethel's commitments to responsibility; for rational plans for growth?

4). Our solid waste site: It stinks. How are we to handle the additional volume from more households when it's already overflowing with garbage? We have no barges to carry it away. When will we wake up to the critical need to recycle our waste?

5). Bethel's labor pool. Growth has brought a demand for skilled labor...contractors, carpenters, electricians, architects, plumbers...who can command reasonable wages. But what about other skilled workers...the waitresses, the housekeepers, the day care workers, etc., who provide so many all-important services? Are parenting (child care) and homemaking of less value than carpentry or plumbing, or banking for that matter?

The time to start planning is right now.

Telstar's OSLC year culminates with two canoe expeditions

Telstar Regional High School's Outdoor Skills and Leadership Course reached its culmination last week and this with two wilderness canoe expeditions on the Moose River in Jackman.

The course, designed and taught by Telstar's Teacher of the Year Steve Keane, was offered to juniors and seniors as a means of fulfilling science credits and receiving unique instruction in wilderness skills, first aid, group dependence, and self reliance.

During the year the participants have had the opportunity to experience the Quivard Sound high ropes course in Newry, study marine ecology and spend an overnight at Chevreton Foundation in Wisconsin, receive certification in Advanced First Aid and CPR, learning camping skills, and understand a great deal about themselves as individuals and as a group.

The final phase of the course was a unit on canoeing skills which took the two classes of 15 students each to Songo Pond, the Androscoggin River at Bear River Rips, and the Androscoggin River at Errol, N.H., to learn flat water and white water paddling techniques. The Moose River expedition held Tuesday through Thursday of last week for one class and again Tuesday through Thursday this week for the other offer the students an opportunity to put to use the skills acquired during the year and also to experience and understand the value of the wilderness resources of western Maine.

The OSLC course was put together by Mr. Keane as a result of his several years of teaching and trip leading experience at Chevreton Foundation. Since very limited funds exist in the SAD #4 budget for such activities, he was forced to write grants to raise money to make the experience possible. Invaluable aid was also given by Hurricane Island Outward Bound School which provided canoes, camping equipment, and the ropes course, Gould Academy which provided the equipment van, Bethel Emergency Ambulance and Rescue and especially Arlene Greenleaf for assistance with the first aid phases of the course, and the administrative staffs of Telstar and SAD #4 who backed Mr. Keane every step of the way.

Special thanks are due also to Marie Keane for her logistical assistance and paddling instruction and Steve Wight who served as an additional instructor guide, and counselor during the canoe skills and expedition portions of the course.

Mr. Keane hopes that permanent funding sources will be found to make OSLC and other courses like it a regular part of the Telstar curriculum. He and the SAD #4 administrators feel that learning life skills and acquiring an awareness of and appreciation for the natural environment are an important part of the educational process. Indeed, as this year's course has shown, for some students a course such as this may make the difference between continuing education and leaving school.

Steve Wight commented that Telstar and the SAD #4 community owe a great debt of gratitude to Steve Keane for a job well done, far beyond the call of his "contract." He has dedicated his life to his students, and they have responded with appreciation.

Planning Board approves new Inn townhouse plan

The Planning Board last Wednesday night unanimously approved a revised plan for The Bethel Inn's townhouse condominium project. The vote was 6-0, with member John Laban not participating, since he is project manager of the condominium project.

Two weeks ago the board reversed an earlier denial of a permit application and approved, by a 4-2 vote, the granting of a permit. But the state Department of Environmental Protection then said it would not grant a permit because the access, from Broad Street, would seriously affect the national historic district.

Thereupon Inn officials had the plans re-drawn to have the access road go in behind Phil Chadbourne's property, off Paradise Road, and then skirt the NTL property, finally arriving at the townhouse site, which is adjacent to NTL, on the periphery of the golf course.

The re-drawn access road, which Mr. Laban said will add considerably to the cost of the project, satisfied some of the objections of the two board members who had originally opposed the project, and they joined the majority in voting in the affirmative.

Early this week word had still not been received from the DEP on whether they would now issue a permit for the project. The agency's earlier objection had been that the Bethel sewer system could not take any additional sewage unless plant operations and maintenance were improved. Town, Inn and DEP officials have worked out a compromise on getting around that objection. The compromise envisions the Inn paying for a study of the sewer plant operations. The town would be bound to carry out the recommendations of the study.

SAD #4 board to meet at Telstar library June 8

There will be a regular meeting of the SAD #4 board of directors at 7:30 on Monday evening, June 8, in the library at Telstar Regional High School.

Agenda items will include: action to implement the recommendations of the UMO Altitude Survey; staff resignations; approval of staff members for Telstar Summer School.

Library needs books for Mollycoddett Day sale

The Bethel Library is accepting donations for its used book sale on Mollycoddett Day, May 26, 1987, at his home on Main Street, Bryant Pond.

He was born at South Paris on Feb. 28, 1902, and was the adopted son of Lester G. and Emma Brooks Swan. He was educated in Greenwood schools. Mr. Swan was employed at Penley Corp. in West Paris for several years until he retired due to ill health. He was an avid sportsman who enjoyed hunting and fishing. He was a registered Maine guide, a junior safety instructor for the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife, and a bonding safety instructor.

Mr. Swan was a member of the National Rifle Association, the Maine Hunter Safety and Conservation Program, the Mollycoddett Sportsman's Club of West Paris, and a member of the Oxford County and West Paris Senior Citizens. He served with the U.S. Navy during the Korean Conflict.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Beatrice Phelps of Auburn; a half brother, Leroy Phelps of Lewiston; and four half sisters, Pauline Phelps of Oxford, Ruby Foster of Norway, Audrey Ellsworth of Kingston, N.H., and Marlon Miller of Wilmington, Del.

Gravestone services were held Saturday afternoon at Gracehaven Memorial Park, Auburn.

George S. McKnight
George S. McKnight Jr. died Sunday, May 31, 1987, at Ledgewood Memorial Home, West Paris, where he had been a patient since 1978.

Mr. McKnight was the son of George Stanley McKnight and Ruth Lynd Purinton McKnight. He was born on Sept. 15, 1916, in Brooklyn, N.Y., and grew up in Dartmouth, Nova Scotia. He received his B.S. and M.S. degrees in physical chemistry from Dalhousie University in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

After four years at Fraser Paper Company, Campbellton, New Brunswick, he joined the Research Department of the Oxford Paper Company in Rumford in 1946. After a series of promotions from senior research worker to group leader to assistant director, he was made Director of Research in 1958. Due to poor health, Mr. McKnight retired in 1970.

He was a member of the Franklin Street Methodist Church in Rumford and served as Financial Secretary and Official Board Member. He was a Boy Scout Leader, a member of the Kiwanis Club, Rumford, and a member of the Technical Association of the Pulp and Paper Industry. Mr. McKnight was an avid outdoorsman and enjoyed fishing, hunting, skiing, and sailing.

Mr. McKnight is survived by his wife, Frances Hollo McKnight of Auburn; a daughter, Barbara McKnight Trifton of Auburn; a son, Dr. G. Stanley McKnight III of Seattle, Wash.; and five grandchildren.

Memorial services will be held on Sunday, June 7, at 2 p.m. at the United Methodist Church, Park Avenue, Auburn.

MARLTON N. PARKER
Marlton N. Parker of Deal Street, Norway, formerly of Bethel, died early Tuesday morning, May 26, 1987, at Ledgewood Memorial Home, West Paris, following a long illness.

He was born at Camden, Sept. 18, 1925, the son of Norman and Bernice Drummond Parker. He attended schools in Camden. Mr. Parker was a dairy farmer and delivered milk in the Camden area for many years. For the last four years he was employed as a custodian for SAD #4. He was a member of the West Bethel Grange and the Locke Mills Union Church, where he was a delegate to association and state church conferences. He spent a great deal of time with his family and was handy with mechanics. On April 18, 1986, he married Joan Hammon, who is currently a teacher at the Woodstock Elementary School.

Survivors include his wife, Joan of Norway; one son, Marlon Jr. of Lincolnville; three daughters, Joanne Johnson of Lincolnville, Cindy Parker of Portland, and Doris Parker of Norway; his mother, Bernice Parker of Lincolnville; one brother, George of North Berwick; and four grandchildren.

Memorial services were held Thursday morning at the Locke Mills Union Church with Silver Leamon, pastor, officiating. Interment will be at a later date at the Riverside Annex Cemetery, South Paris.

REV. KENDALL B. SHOFFNER
Rev. Kendall B. Shoffner died Saturday evening, May 30, 1987, at the Ledgewood Memorial Home, West Paris, where he had been a patient for the past six years.

He was born at Greensboro, N.C., June 14, 1904, the son of Darius P. and Mary Clapp. He was a graduate of Greensboro schools and Catwauw College of Salisbury, N.C., and Theological Seminary in Lancaster, Pa., where he graduated with honors.

He served the congregations of the Evangelical and Reformed Church in Charlotte and Thomasville, N.C.; Louisville and Brunswick, Va.; Grace Church in Sharpsville, Pa.; and St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Detroit, Mich., where he was instrumental in building and dedicating a new church. He was also instrumental in forming the Reformed Church Synod to establish the Johns River Camp in the foothills near Hickory, N.C., which serves various youth groups each summer. He appeared regularly on religious and literary programs during the 1940s.

He is survived by his son, John; a daughter, Rebecca; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Freda M. Dunn of Rumford Point; a brother, Rev. Terrell Shoffner of Winston-Salem, N.C. He was predeceased by his wife, the former Agnes Sennett Davis, in 1962.

Memorial services will be held Monday, June 8, at the Brick United Church of Christ, Burlington, N.C.
